Just You and I . . .

Prom of "84," what a bash! Boy, did the party excell. Moments captured into the special night what every young girl anxiously anticipates. Quite often, the young man hides his anticipation, but it's evident that it does exist.

The main color scheme was maroon and white, with the streamers running about and silver balloons accenting the streamers. Stars also were strung about the Lake Wright ballroom. The theme was "Just You and I," which seems to be exactly what Dr. Newby wants to say to Mrs. Newby. Music catered to this theme. The music was performed by the group, "Lock, Stock, and Barrel."

It was a prom to be cherished by many for many years.

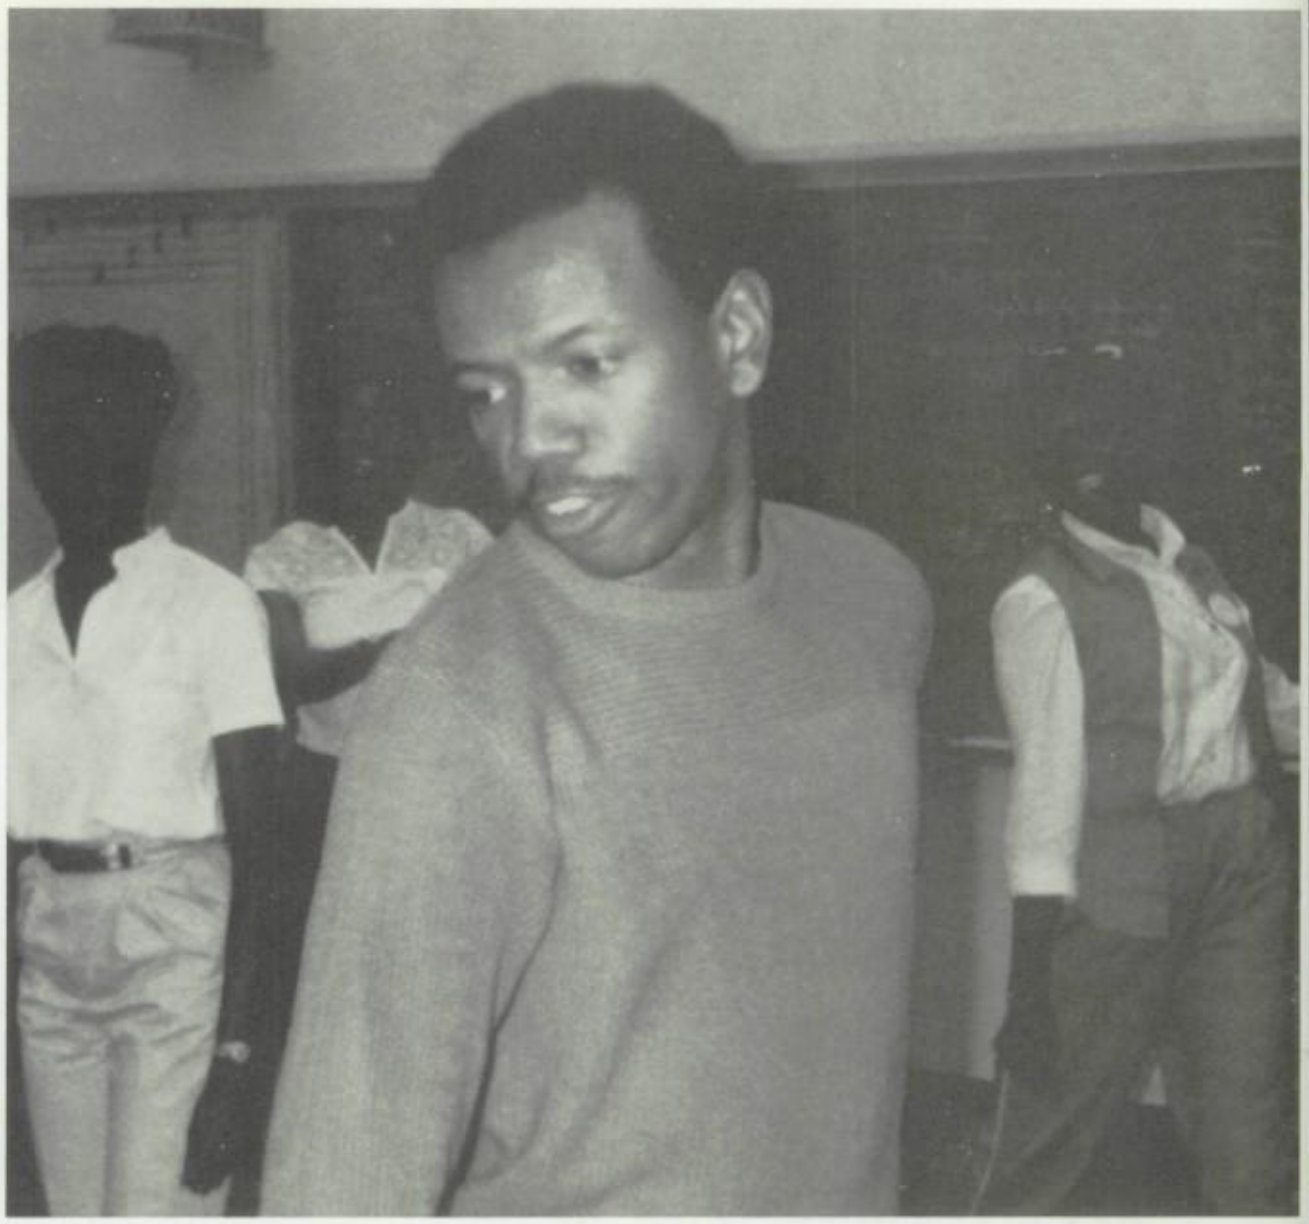
The Making of Miss B.T.W.

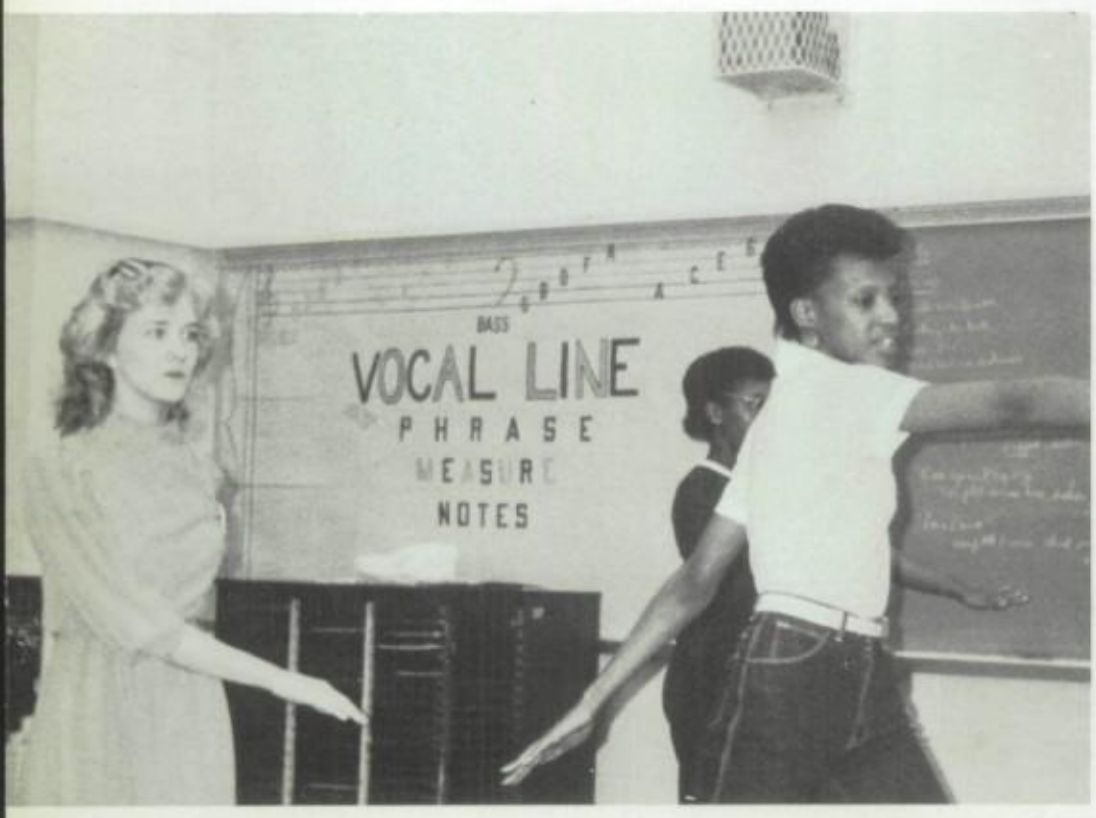
Our two announcers, news reporters Terrel Harris and Alveta Eweii, chuckle over a mistake.

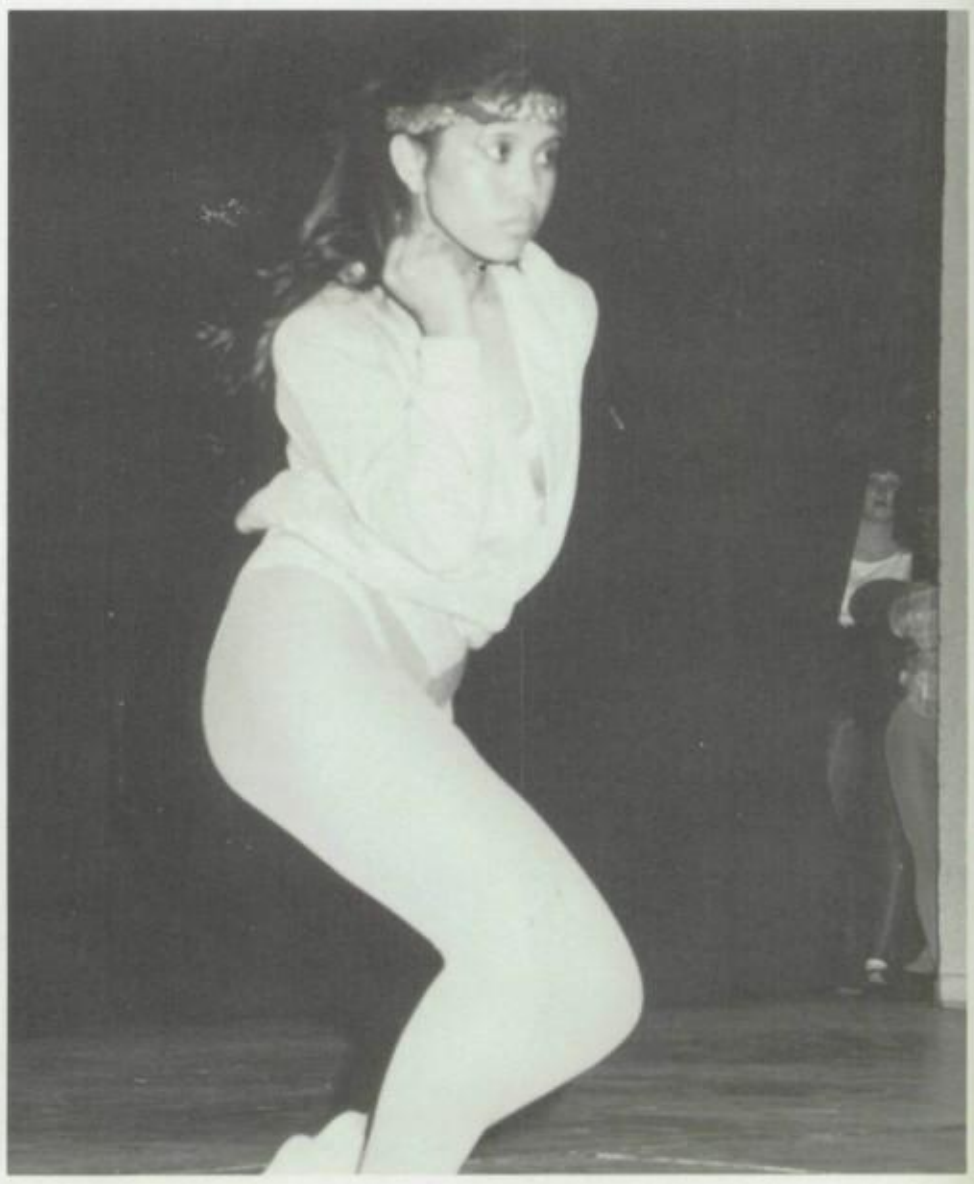


Mr. Johnson leads the girls in a step; some look on in amazement.

Maria Maize practices her dance routine for the pageant.

Some of the contestants rehearse for a dance routine.





Mrs. Barnes seems extremely frustrated with suggestions Mr. Brown renders.

Practice, Practice, Practice! "Are you sure this step is right, Mr. Johnson?" one of the frequent questions asked by many in preparation for Booker T.'s first annual beauty pageants. An abundance of sweat, energy, and effort were put into the making of this pageant by the producers and coordinator, who were Mrs. Sonja W. Barnes, Mr. Henry Johnson, and Mrs. Rosemary Lewis.

Most of all, the highest of recognition should be given to the participating girls who devoured their "all in all." Last year was just the beginning of many more of the pageants. This is another fine and prime example to help us see and realize . . . The Switch Is On!

Shawyette Harrell practices her great song interpretation of "I Am Love."

They Lit Up the Night

Alveeta Ewell and Terrel Harris were the dynamite emcees, and they sure added the "spark" to the pageant.

Alveeta Ewell looks on as she waits for Tina to answer her question.

Mrs. Sonja W. Barnes and Mr. Jeff Sumter sing strongly as they provide "special" entertainment.

Lamont Walker proudly escorts Dawna Smith during the evening gown competition.

Monica Hawks glows with confidence as she smiles to the audience.

Terry Brown, smiles as her escort, Kevin Sutton, looks on with great satisfaction.

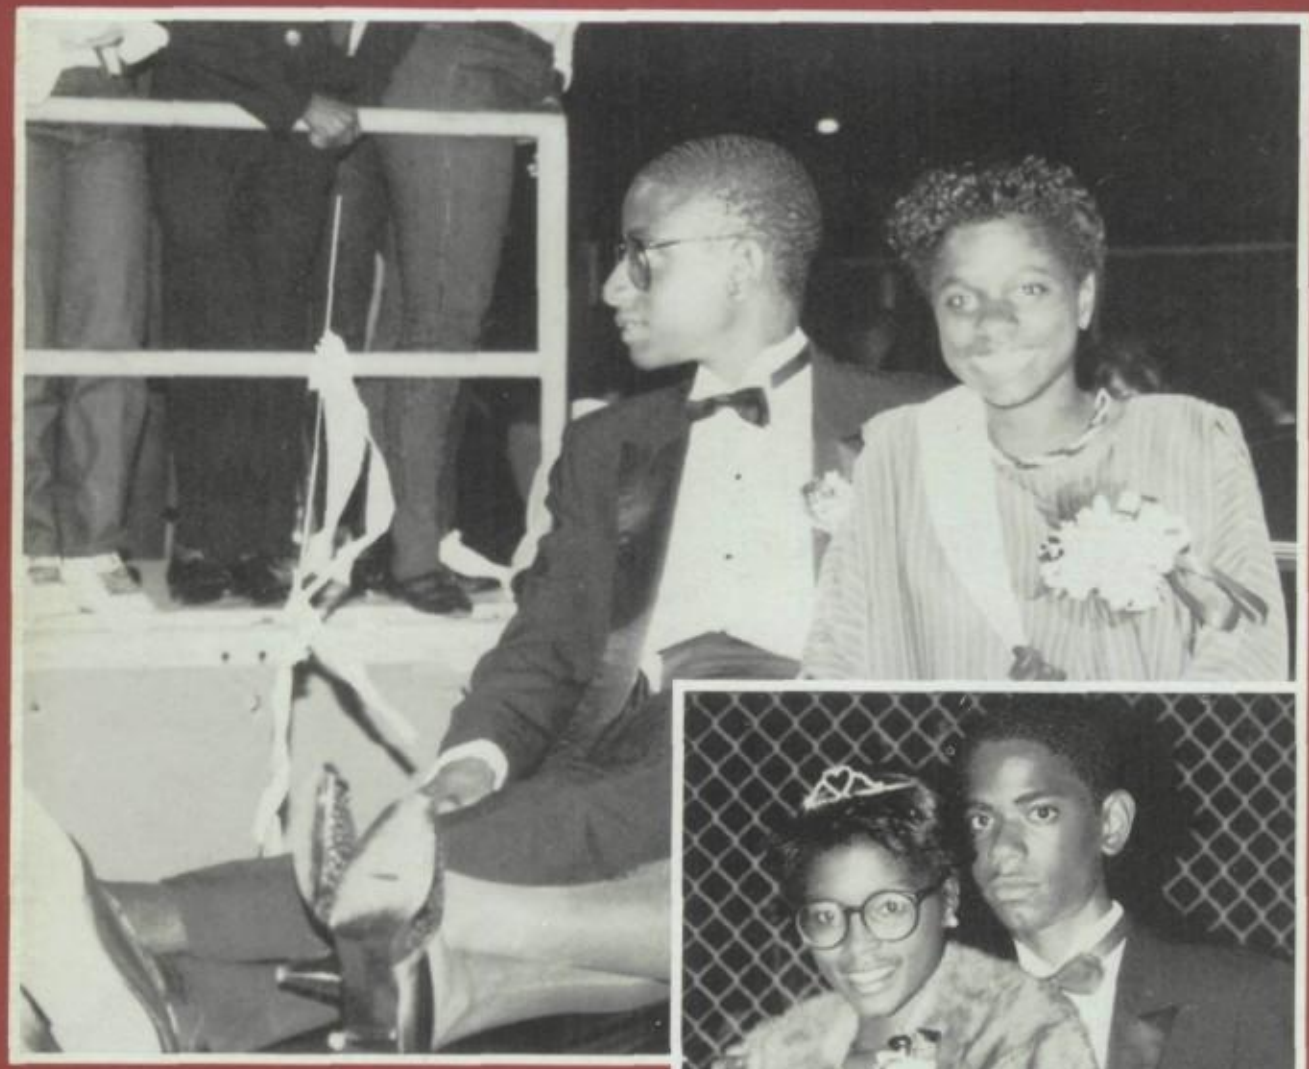
The judges are pleased with their choice for Miss BTW.

It was truly a night to remember. The beauty, the talent, and the more-than-satisfied audience lit up Booker T. Washington's auditorium. Alveeta Ewell and Terrel Harris were the main attraction in drawing viewers. There was a multitude of important people among the spectators including our distinguished panel of judges: Robert Wynn-Jackson, Dr. Glenn Ray, Mrs. Inez Howard, and Mrs. Cathy Cooper.

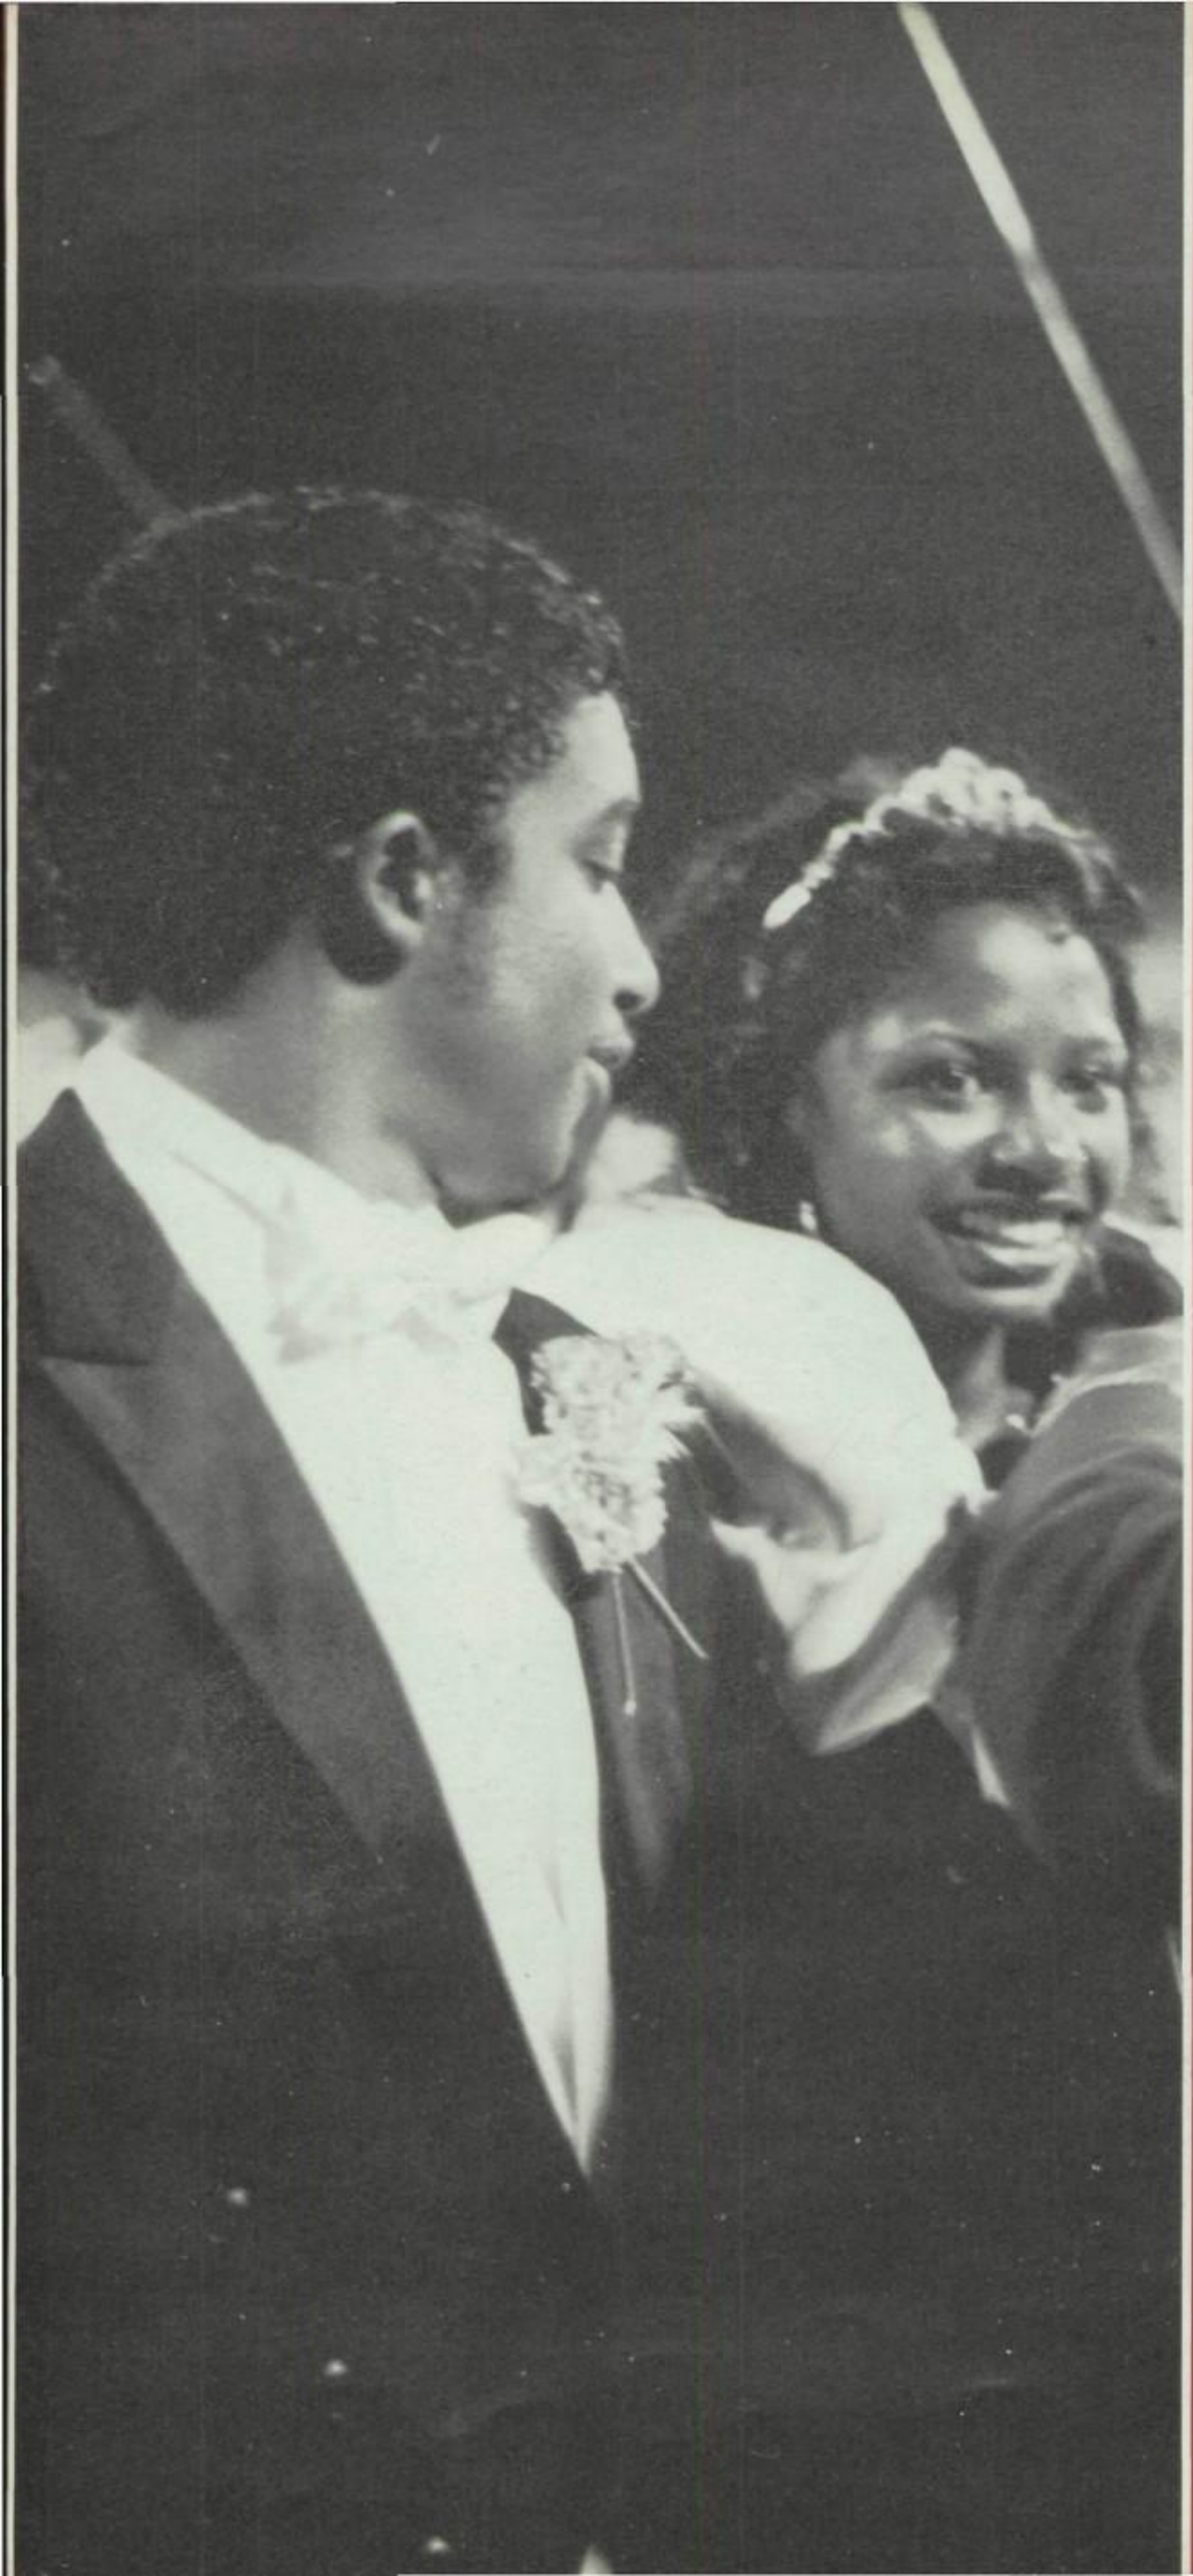
The contestants appeared to be a bit tensed during their first performance; the audience, however, lent a shoulder of confidence which eased their tension a great deal.

The Miss BTW Pageant has definitely gained a reputation of "class." . . . The Switch Is On.

Traditions Never Change



There was an existence of something very special in the air, a sense of sparkle and feeling special. However, it didn't all come easy. A week of sweat, tears, ability, creativity, great endurance, and of course hard work. Everyone from the coaches to of course the queens made homecoming what it was. That special moment that halftime possessed.



Halftime of homecoming! The moment everyone awaited. The three finalists awaited anxiously for the announcement who won Homecoming Queen. For all the effort these three girls poured into this campaign, all were winners, but there could only be one Queen. That one was Felicia Mitchell. First runner-up was Rondell Hunter and second runner-up was Monica Hawks. Each finalist endorsed much of themselves, which all paid off. It was quite a special evening for all, especially the class queens. This is however a tradition that continues to occur throughout each and every year!

. . . They Remain the Same

Katrina Venable, "Miss S.C.A."

The "crowd" welcomes the contestants of Homecoming night.

B.T.W. fans really know how to show their stuff.

"Mr. and Miss Band," Kerry Lynch and Leslie Bell

"Mr. and Miss FBLA," Todd Dunlap, and Terrace Fortson

"Mr. and Miss United Nations," Alex Sembra, and Dana Bael

"Line up! Time to go!" shout the drum majors as the horn sounds to signal the beginning of the parade and a new beginning for Norfolk's five high school bands. Each of the five high schools received new uniforms this year. Most of the uniforms are tuxedo-style, and the head dress is worn by every band member.

Booker T. Washington's uniforms are dominantly maroon and white, but the traces of gold still shine bright. The drum sections at each of the schools have added a new touch to drumming. To match their uniforms, they have wrapped their drum sticks in corresponding colors. This year's flag girls have gained a reputable name by spinning flags with the school emblem on them; furthermore, the poles are GOLD! Norview Senior High school has chosen not to break the tradition of majorette uniforms, while the others have gone with a more modern trend.

The new uniforms have added to the overall performance of the bands. Perhaps the band and auxiliary members are a bit overwhelmed, or maybe they are just "dynamite!" because . . . The Switch Is On.

New Threads for High Steppin'

Red, White, and Blue; Norview High does it good through and through.

Maroon and White; everyone agrees you look DYNAMITE!

Hey Blue and Gold! You stole the show. White and Red keep on movin' ahead!

Enthusiastic School Spiriters!

As it is already known by most, maroon and white are our school colors. Quite frequently, you can enter the building on a Friday and discover a host of the color combination roaming about. As some of our faculty and student body are shown amongst these pages, this school spirit is clearly expressed whether it be jackets, sweaters, or just a button possessing a slogan. Either way these affluent colors can be spotted throughout the week, especially on a Friday to gain that extra flight of spirit for the game that night.

Students in high school should take advantage of the educational opportunities available to them. There have been too many high school drop-outs in Norfolk's school system. New programs need to be developed to encourage students not to relinquish hope in the future. Without a high school diploma, a student has a "specter's" chance of becoming a successful person in life.

ABOVE: Students like Kenneth Lee, Andrew Green, and Thomas Sagley feels that the wall serves for a meeting place for them and the rest of their friends.

Ben Good shows that students also forget their keys.

You see them all the time, before 7:45 and after 2:15, students getting in that last bit of free time; and then at the end of the day, they finally are able to let loose after attending classes since early that morning. These "releasing of anxieties" are frequently done on or near that famous wall in front of the school building.

Another familiar hangout spot is the front court yard, possessing many benches and beautiful decorative trees surrounding these benches. Students also tend to mingle along the walls in front of the building and along the side. And as the bell rings for the 1st class of the day, students slowly and hesitantly ease into the building for another day of learning about competition and endurance.

Kenneth Lee, Michelle Richardson, and Andrew Green shows that a car is used more than for driving around town.

Thomas E. Jones and Antwon Edwards show that friends do stick together as they give one another a "friendship clip."

Borrowing from the past, and depicting into the untold future . . . we can express ourselves by every individual, stylistic, contour that we wish to get across. In fashion, history quite often repeats itself.

Here, recently, fashions for women have been a bit on the masculine side, but still possess that feminine touch.

Fall blasted in with an array of bright, bold, and beautiful colors. Fashion is usually the main topic of conversation for some small, girl talk; however, men are beginning to take a hold. They too are making it a topic of conversation.

So open your eyes, and take a look at the fashions. Be captured into the beautiful rainbow of colors taking on the fashion scene for "84-85."

Who's Who on the Halls and Walls

Can I get to my locker?!

I have a question I would like answered TODAY!

Paula Livingston and Wendy Little take a break after a hard day.

Joey Evans says, "I'm tired of standing in this hall!"

Janice Smith wonders will she ever get some help.

Throughout the halls and walls, students socialize, learn, munch out, and frequently kick back and relax from all those strenuous assignments teachers tend to boggle us down with.

The day begins with everyone standing around outside in the morning and standing in the halls. A few drag themselves into the library to complete some unfinished homework. As the day progresses, lunchtime approaches; and this is the munch out time. Some kicking back and relaxing occurs during lunches and breaks, also. As you return to your classes, learning again takes place. By the time 7th bell rolls around, the majority of the students are drab and worn out . . . but by 2:15 it's time to leave and pep up!

Let's see who's who in the hallways and between the walls of B.T.W.

Chey Hodges, Monica Ferebee, Bonita Anthony, and Carrie Halstead shout about the class of '86.

Sure! We'll take a picture!

Don't get anything out of that machine. We are still practicing.

Where It All Is!

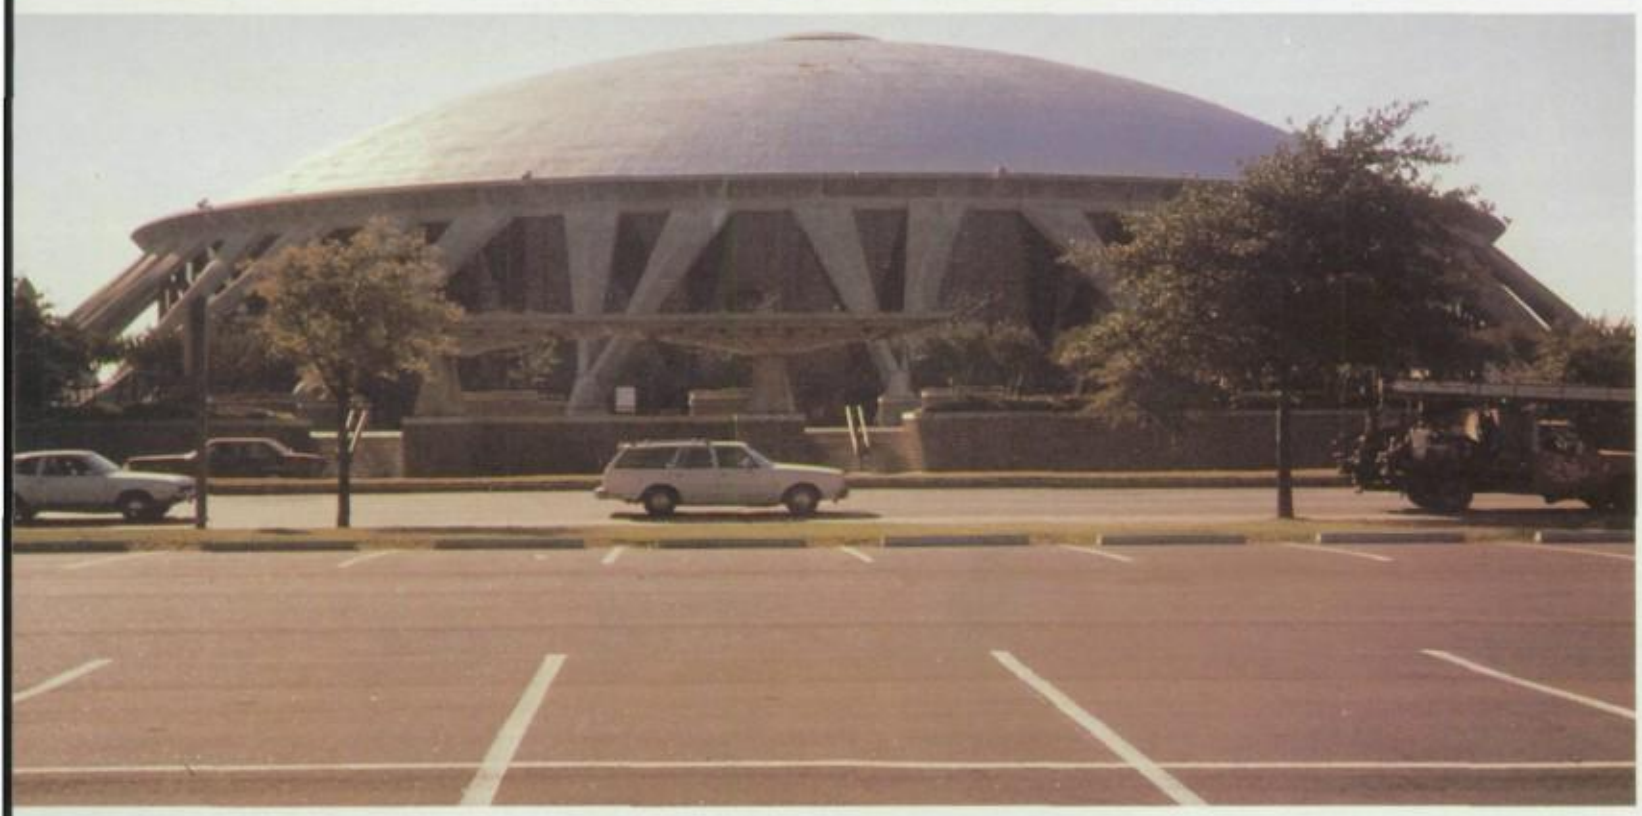
Congressman G. William Whitehurst rides through downtown Norfolk in the Oyster Bowl Parade.

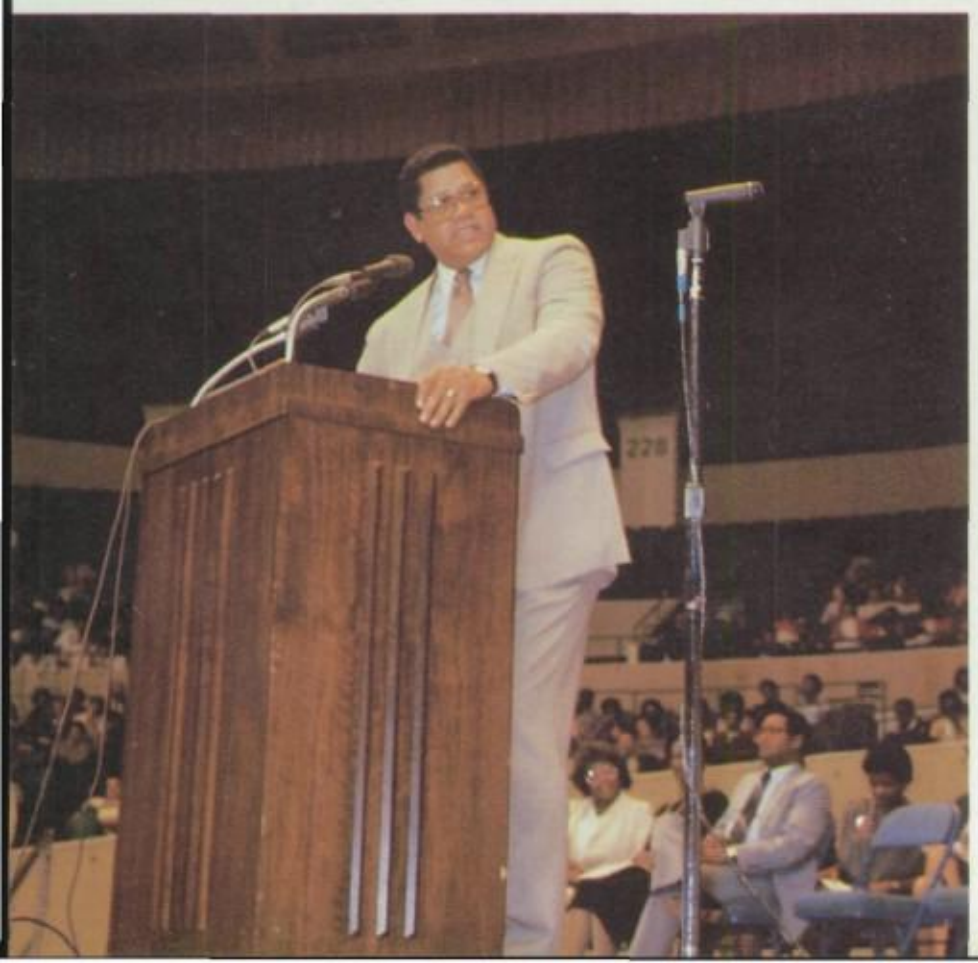
A picture-perfect glance at Waterside on a typical summer day.

BTW's parking lot is preparing to swing into full force.

Our very own Norfolk Scope, which is located in downtown Norfolk.

Dr. Harrison B. Wilson, President of Norfolk State University, speaks at the first annual teacher appreciation celebration.





Waterside was the place for summer of "84," with Harborfest highlighting the festivities. Norfolk also possesses many historical attractions. The MacArthur Memorial serves the city as a major historical attraction. One of Norfolk's main convention centers is Norfolk Scope. Shows, concerts, basketball games and an assortment of other events are also held at Scope; B.T.W.'s graduations are also held at Scope. Chrysler Hall represents itself in a similar way; however, Chrysler Hall holds events such as operas and recitals. Norfolk State University exists as a neighboring school in the community. So get a hold and take a glance at our great city.

Giving It All We Got

"The Switch Is On!" It really is when it comes to academics at BTW this year. One switch that has effected the life of all students is that six classes must be taken by every student. Also, seniors have to attend school the entire year. New principals, teachers, and secretaries add to this year's changes. The light of education is shining brightly through the hearts, minds, and attitudes of administrators, faculty, and students.

Dr. Thomas L. Newby, Principal, and three assistant principals, Mrs. Betty Chapell, Mr. James Lucas, and Mr. Woodrow Franklin.

Has a home or building ever been constructed without a good solid foundation? Not hardly and if so the length of its existence could not have measured up to top notch standards.

The same pertains to a school involving its principals and administrators. Our solid foundation exists within the administration here at Booker T. Washington. The staff consists of, Dr. Thomas Newby, head administrator, and three assistant principals, Mrs. Betty Chapell, Mr. Woodrow Franklin, and Mr. James Lucas.

Their entire work day is comprised of anything from settling disputes and colonizing disciplined students to helping a child out with that "one little problem."

Yes, they definitely measure up to top notch standards, offering their day to day services to students and even teachers. Booker T. Washington could not function without the foursome, and the students, staff, and faculty extend our greatest appreciation to our foundation.

Every student needs help with his or her academic planning at least once in their four or more years. When caught in this trap, students retreat into the friendly office of their guidance counselors. Here, in the small but comfortable room, students receive help in planning their academic future. The guidance counselors give advice, show choices of classes, and help with scheduling. The guidance counselors are giving and helpful and should be used often even if one isn't in a bind.

Captain John Smith Among New People

Our English department has three new teachers this year. Newcomers to the staff include Mrs. Christine Pickle (who conducts the W.B.T.W. magazine), Mrs. Lisa Ward, and Mrs. Ruth Allmond. The staff, faculty, and students welcome you to Booker T. Washington and wish you great success in years to come.

Other new arriving responsibilities and efforts include Mrs. Thomas conducting and sponsoring the forensics team for the 84-85 school year. Also Mrs. Williams has organized a gospel vocal group called "Gospel Challengers."

Mrs. Allena Rawls and Mr. Horace Southall team up to coordinate Model U.N., (representing United Nations) and Mrs. Edwards sponsors the freshman class. The National Honor Society has Mr. Herbert Harrell as its backbone and key man. These are some social studies changes.

Our English department has many new changes along with a new combined English/Social Studies course being taught by Mrs. Sonja Watts-Barnes and Mr. Henry Johnson. It's a newly derived course that is under experimentation. With all of these new beginnings within the English department, we should be in store for new switches.

Mrs. Carathene Crump, department chairman, never has a dull moment. She is certainly an example for her teachers and students by "putting herself in the other person's shoes."

Mrs. Frances Ramzy certainly gives her all in "modeling" for her students to understand those tricky strategies of mathematics.

Geometry, algebra, analysis, and calculus — these words are trademarks of one of the toughest, if not the toughest, courses forced upon a high school student. "Math is a necessity in life and in school, so you have to take it," is a quote heard a lot in more than one guidance counselor's office. There's nothing wrong with math, but no one has ever added letters together before taking high school math. One thinks math is just adding, subtracting, multiplication, and division. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

One could be shocked when entering algebra, confused when subjected to geometry, perplexed when reaching Algebra 2, analysis, and calculus. Even though math is a tough course, it does give you something that is really needed — knowledge. So, next time you are stuck on a math problem, give it some extra effort. Who knows, you might learn something.

Almost any sport can be found in a gym class. Basketball, football, baseball and soccer are all taught in gym. Gym, although physically tough, is a lot of fun, and most students find it the best class of the day. However, while gym works the body, its counterpart, health, works the brain. Learning about diseases, life, and sports give the brain a heavy workout. Together, gym and health give a person a perfect balance of physical and mental exercise.

Everyone knows them as the young men and young ladies in the black uniforms they wear on Tuesdays and Thursdays, but there's much more to them than that. They have many qualifications, criteria, and special events they participate in during the school year.

Qualifications when recruiting include possessing good moral characteristics, being in good physical shape, being a U.S. citizen, and being fourteen years of age. The cadets have to maintain a "C" or above average.

Annual competitions in which they participate are: an NJROTC drill meet of the five area Norfolk high schools in May; a yearly competition at Norfolk State University in March; and an area five drill meet held on March 7.

Other times when the NJROTC display their talent is at homecoming, parades, and numerous assemblies ranging from Academic excellence to an evening P.T.A.

Thanks to our NJROTC we are presented with an array of entertainment on these different occasions.

Special congratulations are extended to senior Felisa McCall, Company Cadet Lieutenant Commander. She was named Battalion Commander for all of the Norfolk High Schools.

Developing Future Leaders for Marketing and Distribution

The Goals of FBLA are to:

- — Develop competent, aggressive business leadership
- — Strengthen the confidence of students in themselves and their work
- — Create more interest in and understanding of American business enterprise
- — Encourage members in the development of individual projects which contribute to the improvement of home, business, and community
- — Develop character, prepare for useful citizenship, and foster patriotism
- — Encourage and practice efficient money management
- — Encourage scholarship and promote school loyalty
- — Assist students in the establishment of occupational goals
- — Facilitate the transition from school to work.

Future Business Leaders of America is the national organization for all high school students participating in business and office programs. It can function as an integral part of the instructional program of the business and office curriculum in secondary schools.

The purpose of the organization is to provide, as an integral part of the instructional program, additional opportunities for secondary students (Grades 7-12) in business and office education to develop vocational and career supportive competencies and to promote civic and personal responsibility.

Mrs. Brenda Powell shows that she really does like working in the world of work with the Future Business Leaders of America.

Business Faculty: Mrs. Anne Grant, Ms. P. Johnson, and Ms. Karen Holty.

Nina Robinson and Angela King are in deep concentration as they struggle to complete their assignments.

You Gotta Have Heart
Born with a fatal coronary defect, 14-day-old Baby Fae received a baboon heart in a five-hour operation at California's Loma Linda University Hospital. Dr. Leonard Bailey performed the controversial transplant operation.

A sad goodbye to those we lost in 1984

Battered Beirut
In February, battered Beirut was ablaze again. Badly bloodied by a 1983 bomb attack on their barracks, the U.S. Marines were hastily evacuated to the safety of the waiting U.S. fleet. Pentagonists called it a "redeployment," but to the world it looked more like a retreat. Then, in September, the second terrorist bombing of the U.S. Embassy reemphasized the vulnerability of Americans in Lebanon.

McDonald's Massacre

They're tearing down the McDonald's in San Ysidro, Calif., but memories aren't so easily removed. On July 18, that Golden Arch was the scene of a massacre—the largest death toll taken by a single man in a single day in the nation's history. James Huberty, 41, armed with three guns and a bag of ammunition, killed 20 people and wounded 16, including passersby and children. A police sharpshooter ended the rampage by killing Huberty.

The First Woman ^

By becoming the first woman Vice Presidential candidate, Geraldine Ferraro's face not only made it onto campaign posters, but her name will go down in history. The three-term Congresswoman from Queens, 49, debated Vice President Bush, clashed with New York's Archbishop O'Connor and hardly wobbled when the finances of her husband, John Zaccaro, became a campaign issue. It wasn't enough to put Fritz Mondale in the White House, but you could hardly "blame the dame" for that.

on-Erik Hexum

On Oct. 12, the husky star of TV's Cover-Up, 26, shot himself in the emple with a prop gun loaded with lanks. Even so, the shattering hemorrhage. The brain-dead actor's heart was quickly transplanted into the chest of the owner of a Las Vegas escort service.

Irreverent Reverend <
It was an up and down year for Rev. Jesse Jackson, 42, the first major black Presidential candidate in U.S. history. The charismatic clergyman outraged Jews with his "Hymietown" slur, but also proved outrageously funny guest-hosting Saturday Night Live.

The Scandal of Sexual Abuse /
Stories of sexual abuse created shock waves. Something About Amelia, a telefilm starring Ted Danson (with Roxana Zal) and Glenn Close, illuminated the problem of incest. In the real world, child-care centers in Manhattan Beach, Calif., and New York City were shut down after children complained of sexual molestation by their teachers. And prosecutors probed the allegations made by children in Jordan, Minn., who accused a group of adults of sexual abuse and murder.

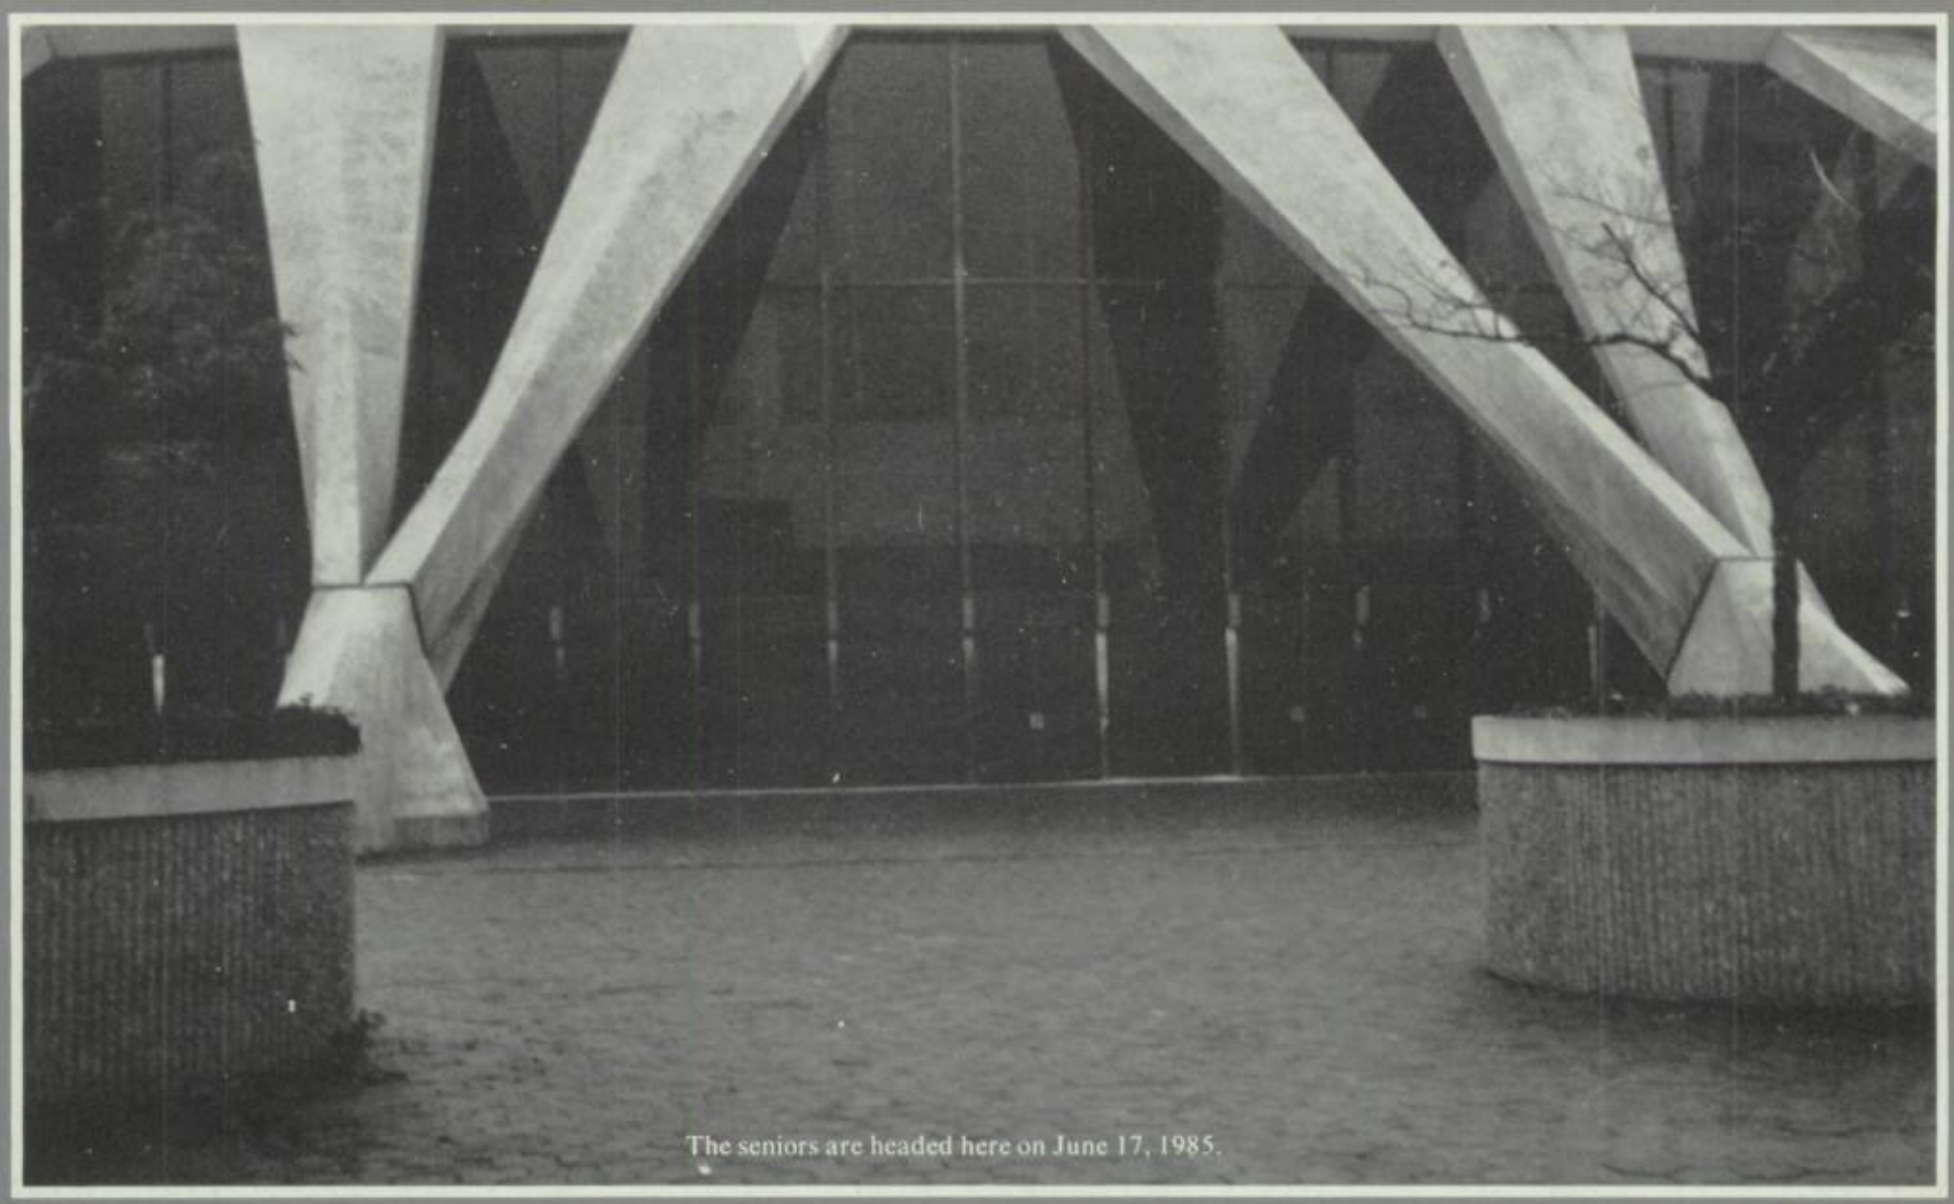
Miss Harley shares a happy moment with seniors after school.

Seniors show their spirit at a football game.



The seniors are headed here on June 17, 1985.

To: Washington High School

My husband and I (and others unsure) wish to express our sincere gratitude to the principal, teachers, and others involved for your concern, dedication, and endless patience; and for sharing your outstanding skills and expertise in the education, direction, and preparation of our daughter and other young people graduating from high school.

The generous gift of your abilities has made it possible for these young adults to become "all that they choose to be" and well-equipped for the future.

From: Russell and Elizabeth Weech (Leslie Kaylor's parents)
Class of '85

To: Leslie Ann Kaylor
From: Her parents, Russell and Elizabeth Weech

Love and Congratulations! To a very special person and wonderful daughter. To our sweet sunshine; you are Dad's sweetheart and Mom's ideal.

*ideal, N. a mental picture of perfection as a model toward which to strive; a supreme standard; a person thought of as a perfect enough to be imitated.

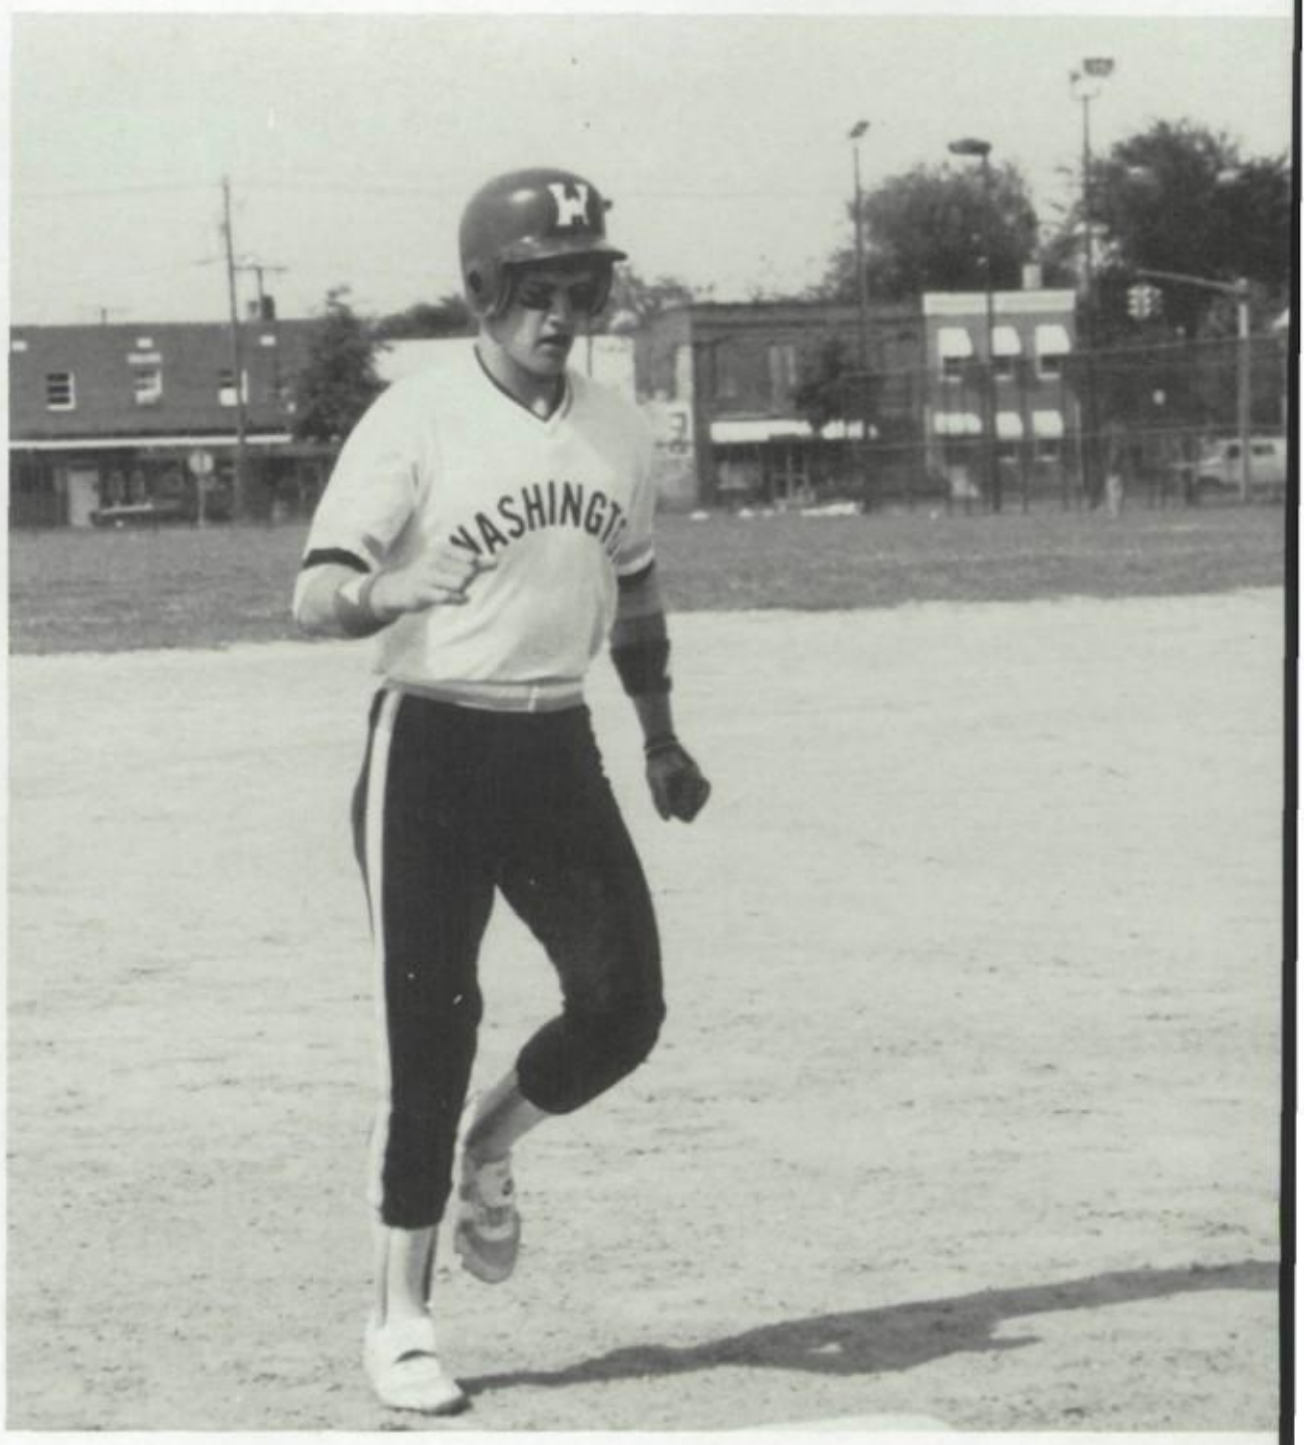
More to Show

An important part of every school is its team sports. Making a team is a common goal for all who endeavor in sports. Feel proud of our school sports teams, show some spirit, and support sports to show that . . . The Switch Is On.

Batting Into Action



Being a senior, veteran player Mike Millard rounds the bases in his last season.

After a solid hit, senior Randy Windely bolts for 1st to the disgust of the pitcher.

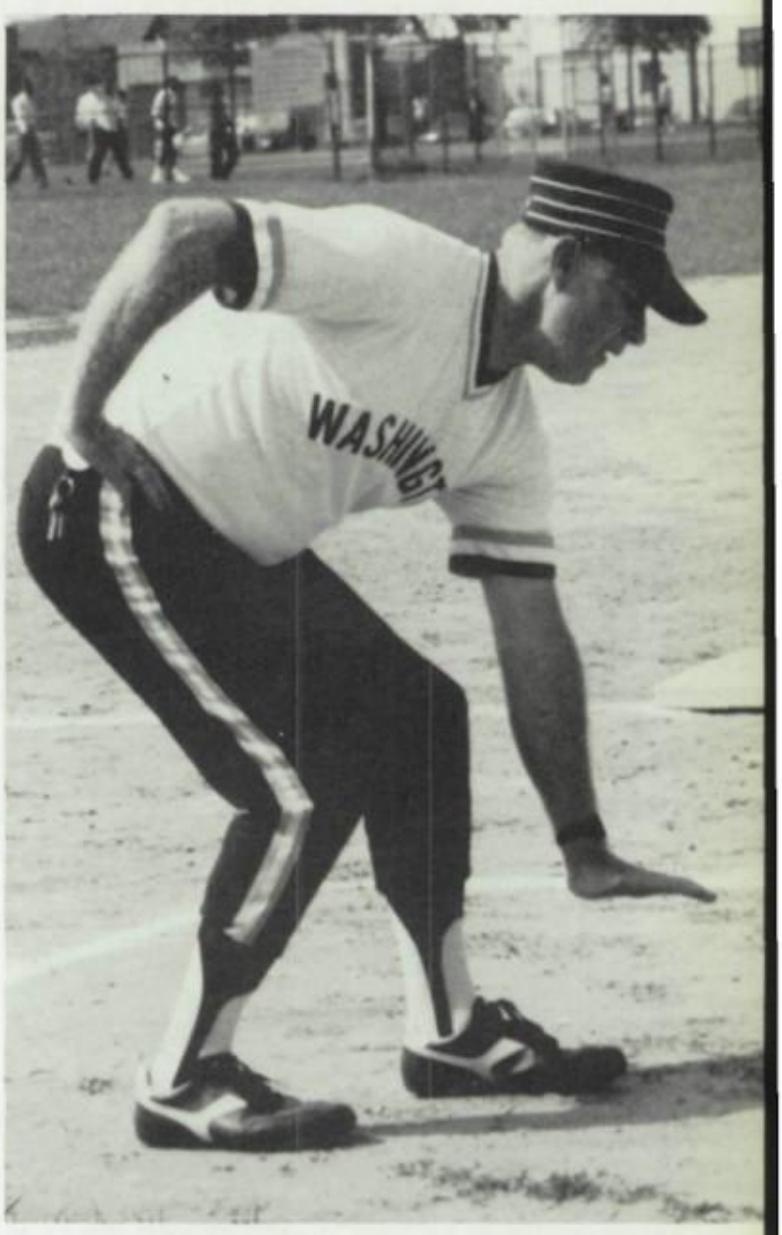
Tied for first place in district competition, with a record of 8-4, the '83-'84 baseball team played tough for a successful season. The strength of the veterans combined with the energy of new players fueled the team with the explosive power to keep coming up on top. We can be proud of our baseball team; they showed that BTW is a school to be reckoned with. You can be sure this season, when the baseball team clashes with the enemy team and the dust settles, BTW will once again be victorious because . . . The Switch Is On.



During their win over Granby, Dallas Harrell, Travis Love, Randy Windely, and Donnie Smith take a break in the shade.

Dallas Harrell leaves the opposition standing as he trots in to score.

Coach Knox slips a signal by Norview.

Playing to Win

Winning the district championship with a victory over Maury, the Lady Bookers showed that they were the team to beat in the '83-'84 season. They dominated the other teams with excellent pitching by Cally Self. Strong fielding and hitting also contributed to the Lady Bookers' incredible season record.

They are hoping they will still be the Number One team in the '84-'85 season.

Coach Allen Everhart takes a minute to think over the game strategy.

Charlie Whitfield comes to assist in the high jumping action.

Don't touch the ball!! This is a term often used in soccer referring to a rule that says just that, no touching the ball with your hands.

A cool breezy afternoon is the setting for a soccer game. This game consists of thirteen or more players. It is a game that has eleven major positions for a striving player to play. All the players are expected to stay within their designated areas.

Soccer is a sport for the creative yet athletic at heart. This season was a rather challenging one for the Bookers. The boys and girls competed swiftly with teams from around the city.

The coaches are Mr. Everhart, Mr. Dierstein, and oncoming coach, Mr. Giles. These coaches use a lot of initiative in planning game strategy. Our school is blessed to possess a dedicated soccer team and coaching staff.

No Hands Allowed!!!

Rebecca Bryant watches attentively as the ball is kicked near the goalie's area.

Coach Dierstein takes time out for the action-packed game to review some more strategies.

Stephanie Cook watches the ball slide through the other opponent's legs.

Joseph Scanavino ducks low in order to retain the lead.

Chelsey Saccamondo skids into action!

All Eyes on the Ball

Felicia Mitchell runs to help our BTW cross country team famous!

Nikki Green moves right along knowing that all he has is a few steps until the finish.

Rita, Paula, Gaynell, Corey, and Danette show how they reached the top.

Felicia Mitchell is wondering, "Where's the finish line?"

"I'm not going to let him catch me!" says Brian Coleman.

On your marks, get set, Go! Going undefeated throughout the season, the girls cross country team won the Eastern District title. The males ended the season in a top position also. Outstanding performers such as Felicia Mitchell, Paula Williams, William Smith, and Nikki Green were idols to the newcomers and definitely aided in their great achievements as members of the B.T.W. Cross Country Team. This was a great year for Booker T. and certainly not the last . . . The Switch Is On.

BACK: Juanita Austin, Gaynell White, Corey Hoggard, Danette Majette, Gail Leary. FRONT: Coach Nelson, Felicia Mitchell, Paula Williams, Rita Sampson, Leslie Bell.

And They're Off!!!

The sounds of clashing sticks and solidly hit balls are some trademarks of the Lady Bookers field hockey team. The rookies on the team gained experience in actual game conditions and have adapted well. Members of the team played with a strong defense. Most teams just edged victories against the fighting Lady Bookers. The year had some bright spots; one of them was defeating Granby twice. The field hockey team was tough and showed good spirit which shows . . . The Switch Is On.

Karen Holley rushes forward to get to the opponent's goalie.

Mrs. Patricia Karr watches enthusiastically as the Lady Bookers take on the Pilots.

Donna Merrit demonstrates starting procedures on the opponent's side.

Coach Karr goes over game strategy with the Lady Bookers.

Karen Holley reaches outward in an angle to push the ball out in her path.

Going for the Goal

Claudia Lee strokes her hockey stick toward the ball.

Rebecca Bryant balances on one leg while battling for the ball.

Teeing Off

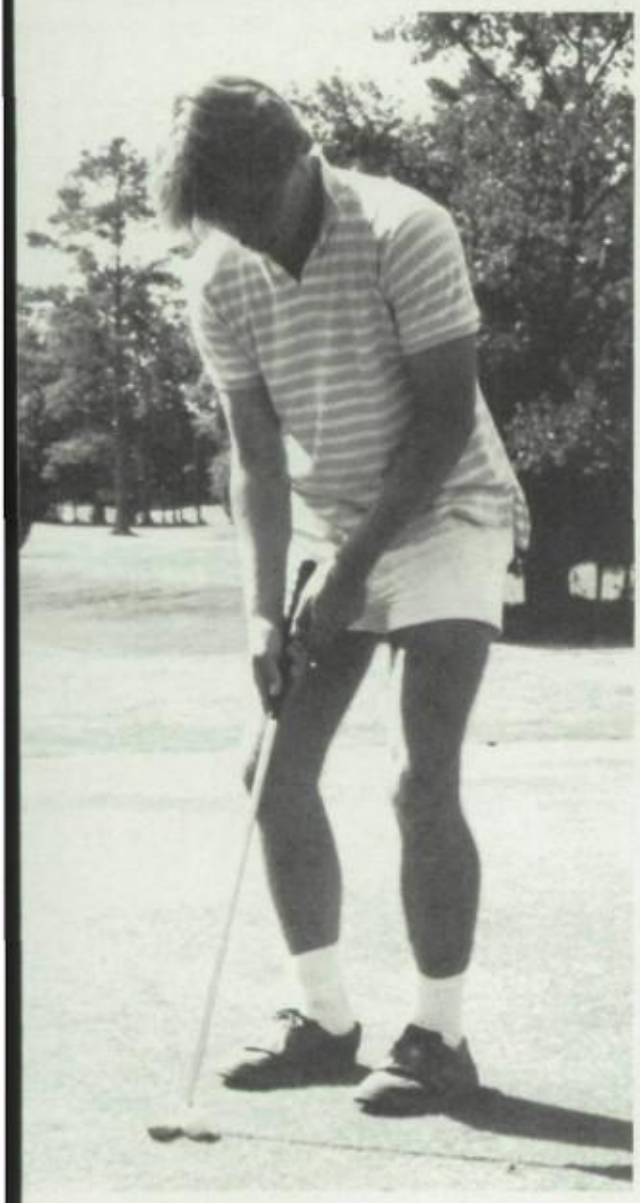
Brian "Bing" Gunter is getting close to nature.

Watching the ball is Bobby Swafford.

Bill Swearinger is in his stance.

On the green is Bobby Swafford.

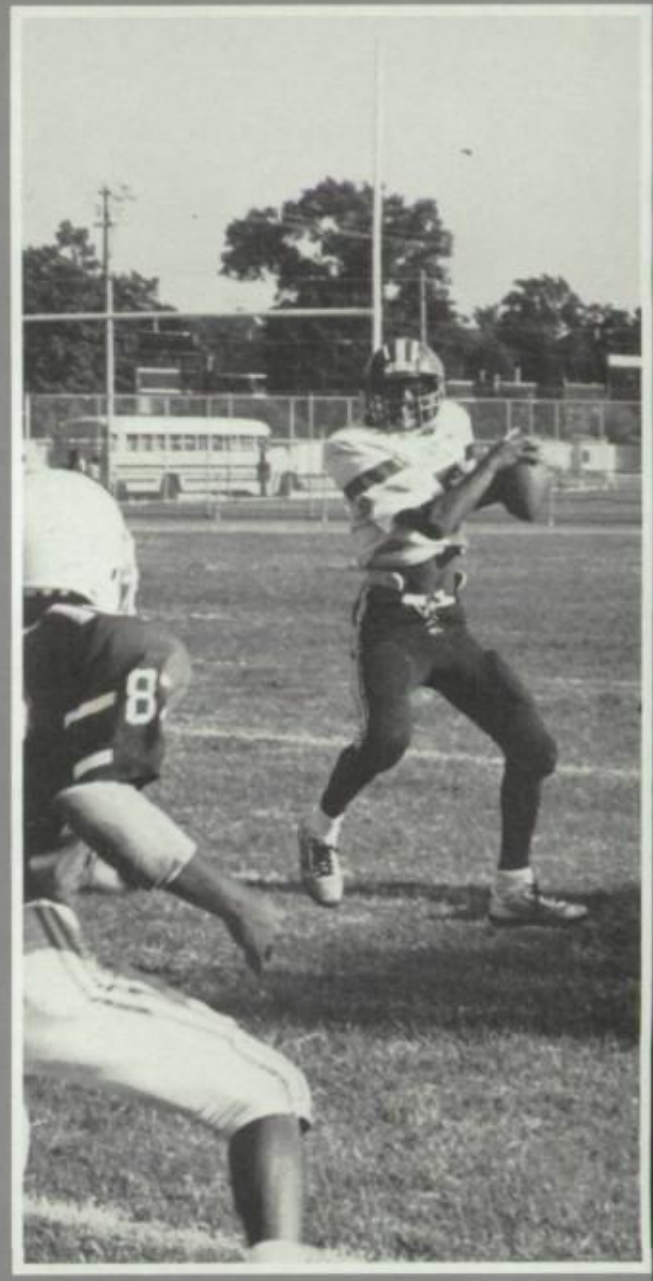


During the fall of '85, the BTW golf team emerged from its hybernation. The wins were headed by members such as Brian Gunter, Bobby Swafford, and Chris Snively. The strong golf team over-powered everyone and ended with a district championship.

Congratulations BTW golfers; you deserve it.

A New Kick Off

Who said the Bookers weren't into action?



Rico Camble, a mighty Booker, leaps into the air as he goes for the ball.

Get ready, set, go.

The Bookers go in for a tight squeeze.

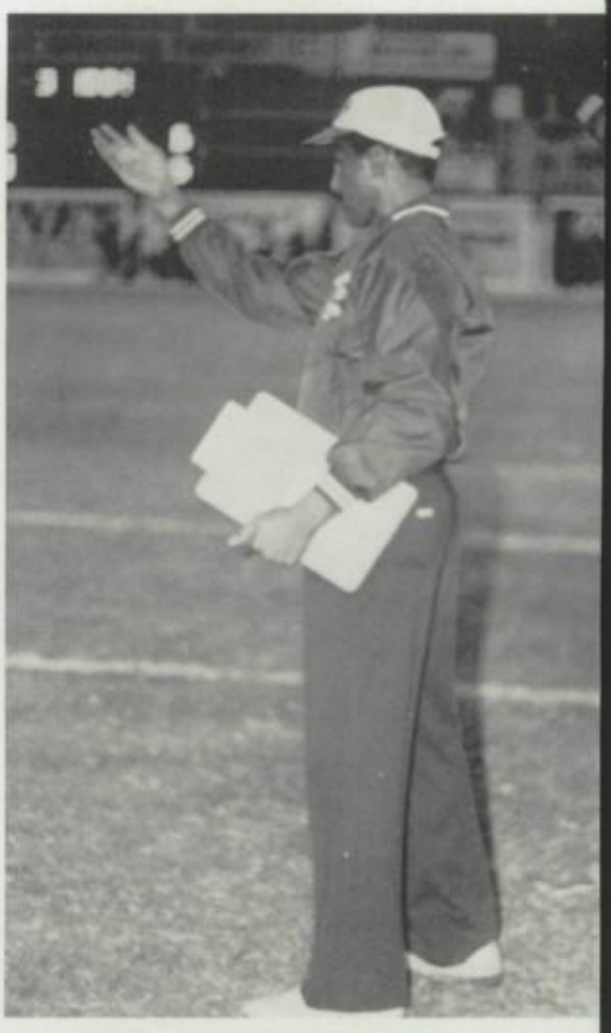
Defense Made the Difference

Two of the "DEMONS OF DEFENSE," George Scruggs and James Stallins demonstrate defensive skills.

Tom W. Jones has the receiver in his grasp.

Lamont Walker demonstrates how he was selected "Player of the Year."

New Trends for '84'



With B.T.W. soaring to the top of the charts this season, the 7-3-1 Bookers really hit it off. B.T. grasped the Eastern District title along with a startling comeback. Lamont Walker was named player of the year, and Coach Cal Davidson received the title of coach of the year. The hard work along with the players efforts really paid off.

The beginning of the season, consequently did not look promising with the Laker Taylor Titans shutting out the Bookers in a final score of 12-0. They were next defeated by Norview in a 12-15 final. But the winning streak was now on. The Bookers defeated Norcom 25-7. This was the start of a 7-2-1 season, losing to Great Bridge in the Regional Playoffs.

Midway into the season there were as many as twelve players out with injuries. Many of these injured players were first stringers. This, however, did not halt the Bookers. The greatest upset appearing on the high school score boards was the 23-6 score over the area top-ranked team, Kellam. Kellam was ahead 6-0 and driving toward a second touchdown late in the second quarter when the game turned around; the Bookers were pounding away at Kellam.

The Mighty Bookers produced an excellent season with remaining players having next year to look forward to and conquer.

Coach Cal Davidson directs the Fightin Bookers to Eastern District Championship.

This is the squad who did it!!

Keith Perry looks for the opening.

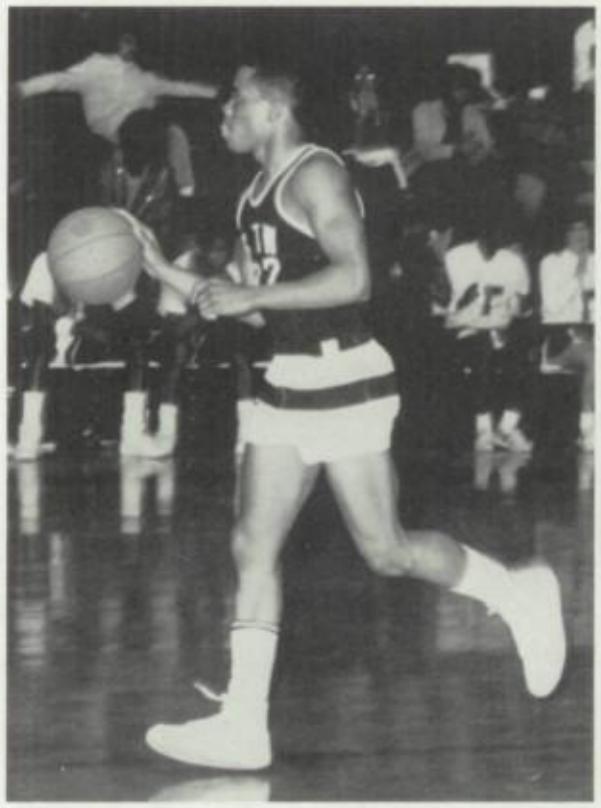
George Scruggs "stiff arms" a defender.

Pharad Gray signals the "safety."

Dallas Harrell missed the season with a leg injury.

George Scruggs, looks for the goal line.

Elvin Godfrey catches the long bomb.



Dribble it: Pass it: We want a basket!

This J.V. player of BTW has the situation in the palm of his hand.

Look at those J.V. cheerleaders doing their thing; cheering at the Booker's game.

No. 14 has made a basket for two.

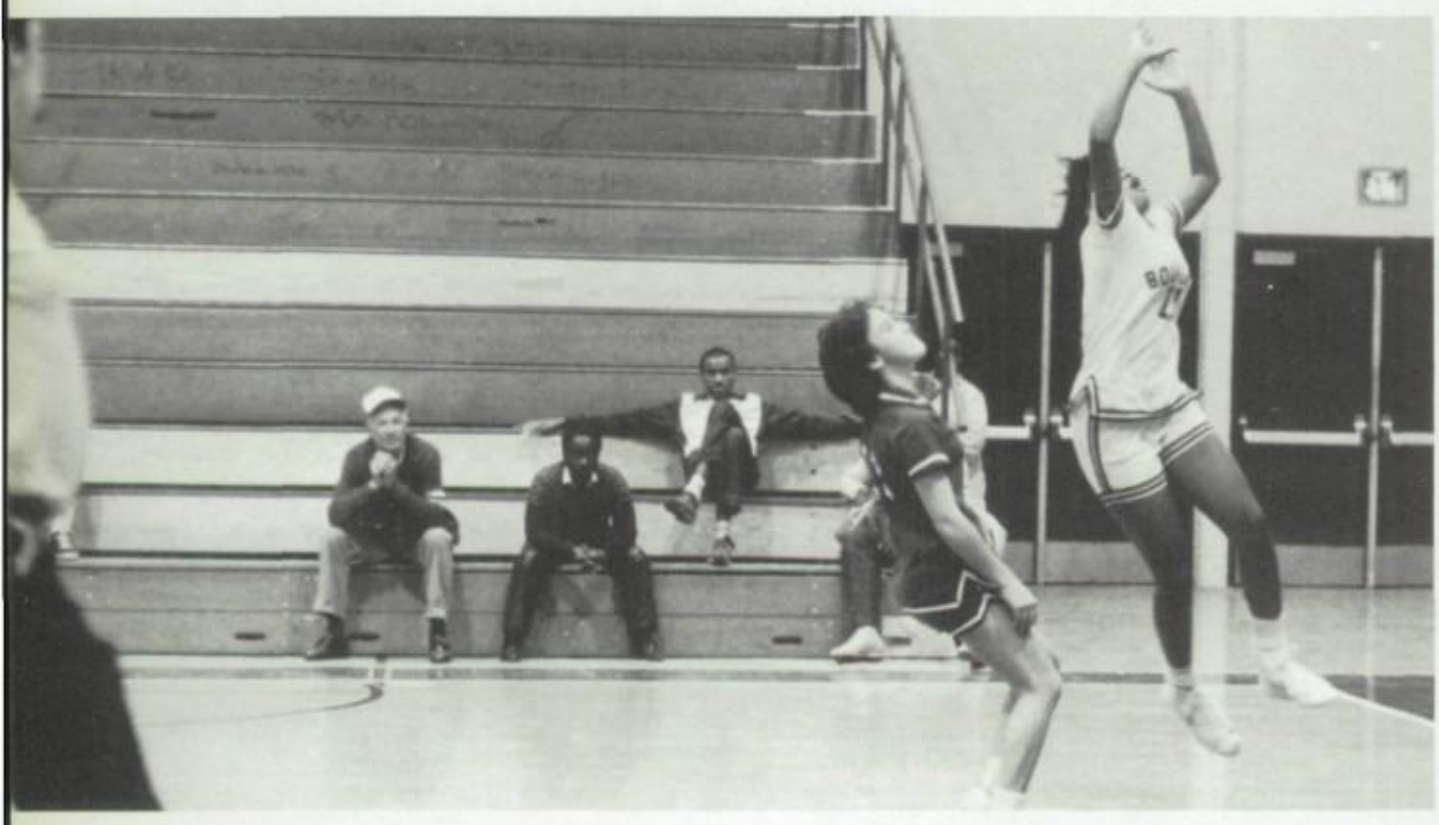
NO MORE "BABY BOOKERS"

Junior varsity basketball has come a long way in the past few years. They're not considered "Baby Bookers" anymore; they've come into their own. Many of the junior varsity players graduate to the varsity ranks and have been very productive players. The junior varsity team isn't just an opening act but has become one of the school's main attractions. So, no longer think of the junior varsity basketball team as "Baby Bookers" but as the "JV Bookers."

Some basketball players anticipate some time to get into the game and S-C-O-R-E.

BTW undergoes great strategies against the Laker Taylor Titans.

This Titan fan looks as if he's being pushed around.



She is a Booker. Can't you tell? Because she's dribbling all those right moves.

On the spot around the clock, the Booker girls know more on how to score.

Up, up, there it goes. Whether she made it or not, only those Titans know.

Taking It Through a New Hoop

Our girls junior varsity basketball team possesses great endurance and initiative towards basketball. They are young at mind and heart but allow for room to learn and grow in the aspects of basketball.

Mrs. Doris Davidson practices and works with the girls on a day-to-day basis. They go through these practices to not only sharpen their skills in basketball but to learn to respect themselves and others and to acquire responsibility. These girls are also being prepared to go on to varsity basketball, if they choose to do so.

Our girls' J.V. basketball team headed to seasons of future and newer successes, which will bring about newer and different changes.

They dribbled it and passed it and Leila made it in another two points in the Bookers basket.

Leila Weaver is up and at it again, helping those Bookers gain that winning sensation in the end.

Janice Carrington shows one of her passes with that Bookers ball.

Off of the tip of Janice Carrington's fingers and straight to the rim, look out Titans there goes those Bookers scoring those points again.

Going All the Way

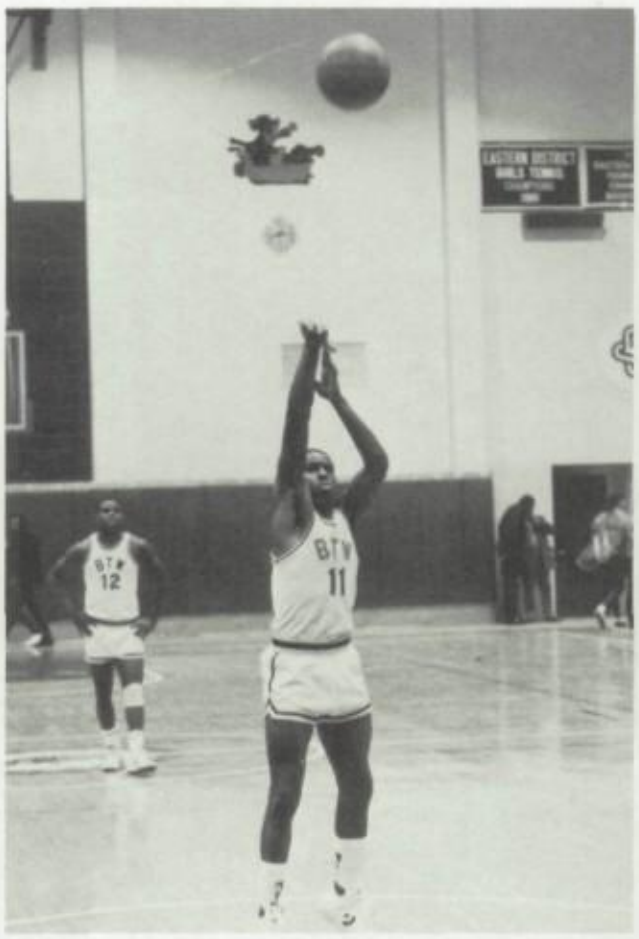
Even though the boys' varsity basketball team is still early in their season, the end, yet so near, looks promising in defeating. The Bookers are on a winning streak, and they have tried very hard not letting anyone beat them.

They've played some good games, some of which were a breeze. The toughest and the best game was when it was those Fightin' Bookers vs. The Commodores of Maury. Over 7,000 fans attended this game. Even those Fightin' Bookers lost 53-54, they did not disappoint the fans because of the way they had played. The varsity team members are having a great season, and Coach Zeke Avery didn't mind saying so.

The Bookers have distributed an all for one and one for all situation on the courts on which they have played. They have really given their best and put forth their efforts into the games. They have all been great crowd pleasers.

Coach Avery was indirectly quoted as saying, these boys have played great games, and they are great. He always lets them know it is not whether you win or lose that counts; it is how you play the game. If you play it right, you will remain dyno-mite!

What better advice could a coach give a team.



Lamont Walker, B.T.W.'s renowned athletic hero, shows his talents on the court by making the foul shot.

The "crowd" played an important part in B.T.W.'s victory over Granby.

James "Plug" Melton goes in for the rebound.

James Stallings takes the "fast break" to the hoops.

The cheerleaders provide entertainment between time-outs.

Antonio Stith was one of B.T.W.'s outstanding rookies.

Darryle Reid was noted for his unique jump-shot skills.

Second stringers eagerly await their chance to play.

Shooting for Higher Goals

Kim Perry shows her point-guard skills.

One of BTW's forwards makes the big steal.

Here's another one of those big plays that took the girls to the championship.

The varsity cheerleaders, featuring Terry McNair, show their stuff at half time.

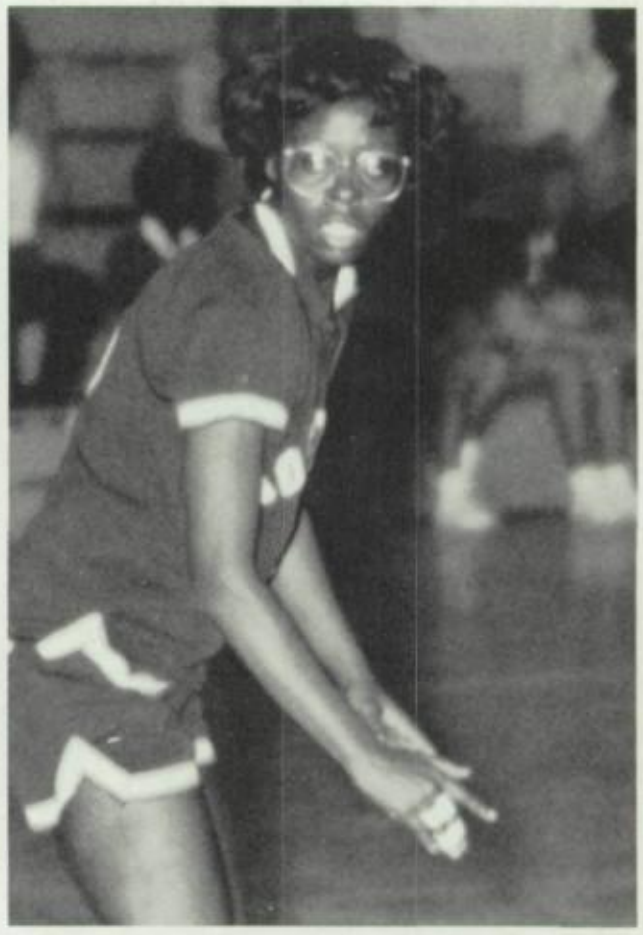
Paula Livingston makes the jump-shot.

Karen Holley goes for the lay-up.



Lisa Williams goes up for the rebound.

Kim Perry looks for the defender.

Making Waves

Carmen Price and Natanya Balmer converse about the upcoming event.

Darrell Morehouse, Jeff Chalk, and Wade Thweatt exchange ideas on diving techniques.

The unknown diver rolls in for a deep dive.

Natanya Balmer pulls her legs in tight for a super dive.

Looks pretty close, but he knows what he's doing.

One, Two, Three. Off she goes down the board and into the pool!

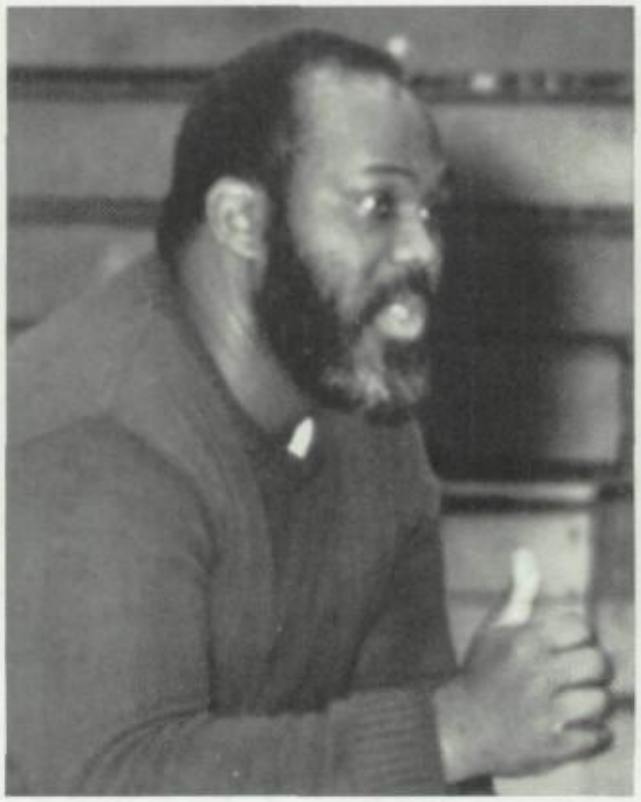
Every winter afternoon one can hear the sounds of the swim team practicing. The swimmers leave school at the end of each day and migrate to Huntersville's pool. Once there, they slip into their suits and prepare to swim. The swim team then puts in a grueling two-hour practice. These long and hard workouts consist of five 100-yard relays, fifteen 50-yard relays, and twenty-five 25-yard relays. These workouts leave the swimmers totally spent.

These marathon practices are not in vain; they leave the swimmers in peak, physical shape. This state of fitness is needed for those exciting weekly swim meets. The weekly swim meets are held at the Maury High school pool. The Bookers will try to stroke their way to victory there each week.

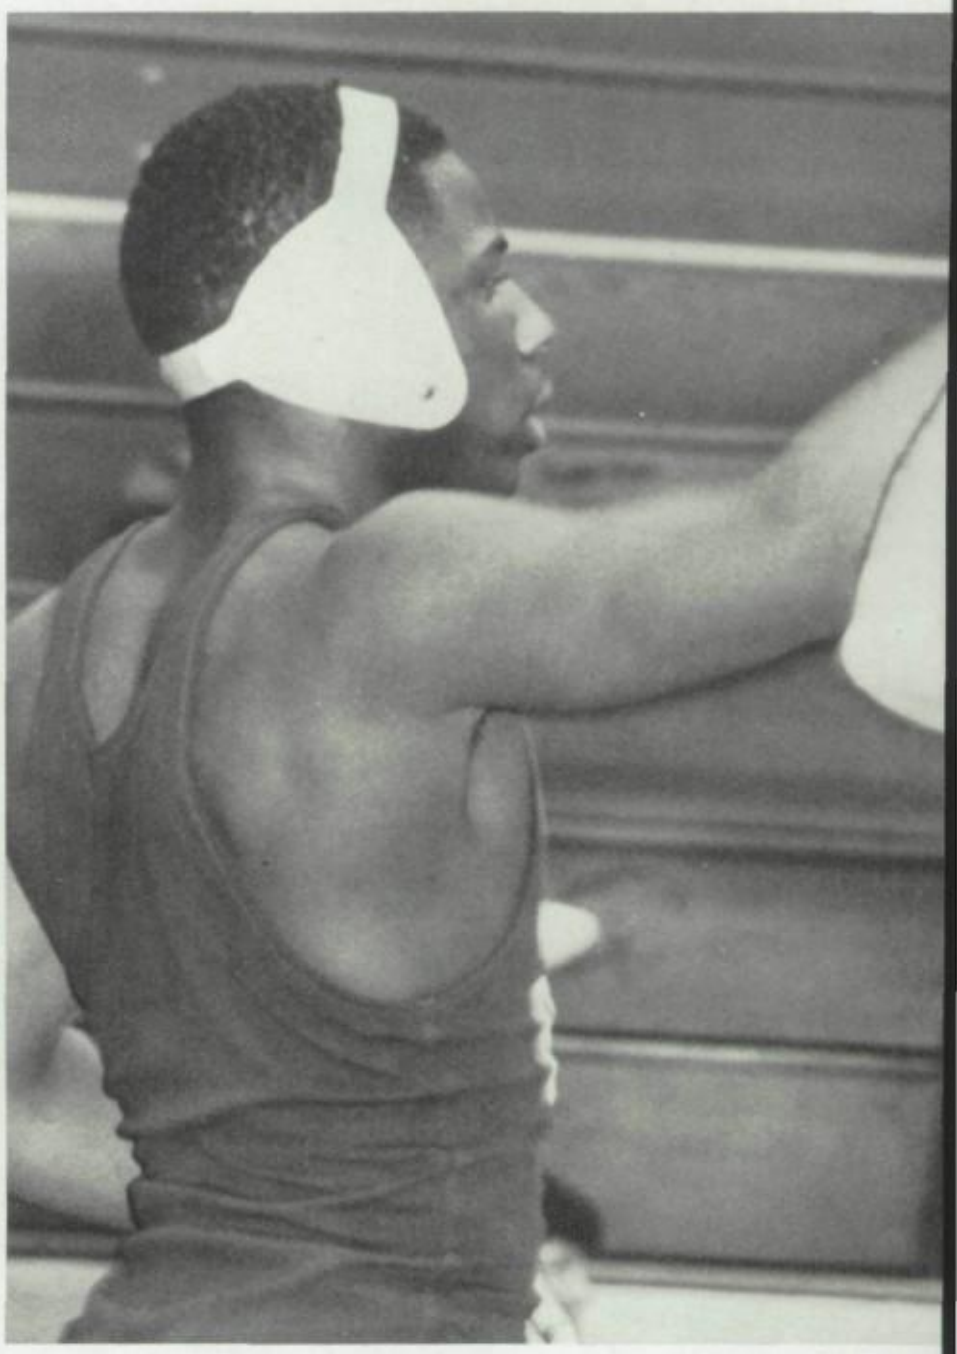
Wow! This BTW swimmer shows off his diving ability.

Pin to Win

Wrestling is a grueling and demanding sport. Many new members joined the wrestling team to meet the challenge that this sport presents. Wrestlers stay after school for long, hard practices. These practices help condition, strengthen, and ready them for their wrestling meets. Getting strong and staying tough is the name of the game and B.T.W. wrestlers do just that.

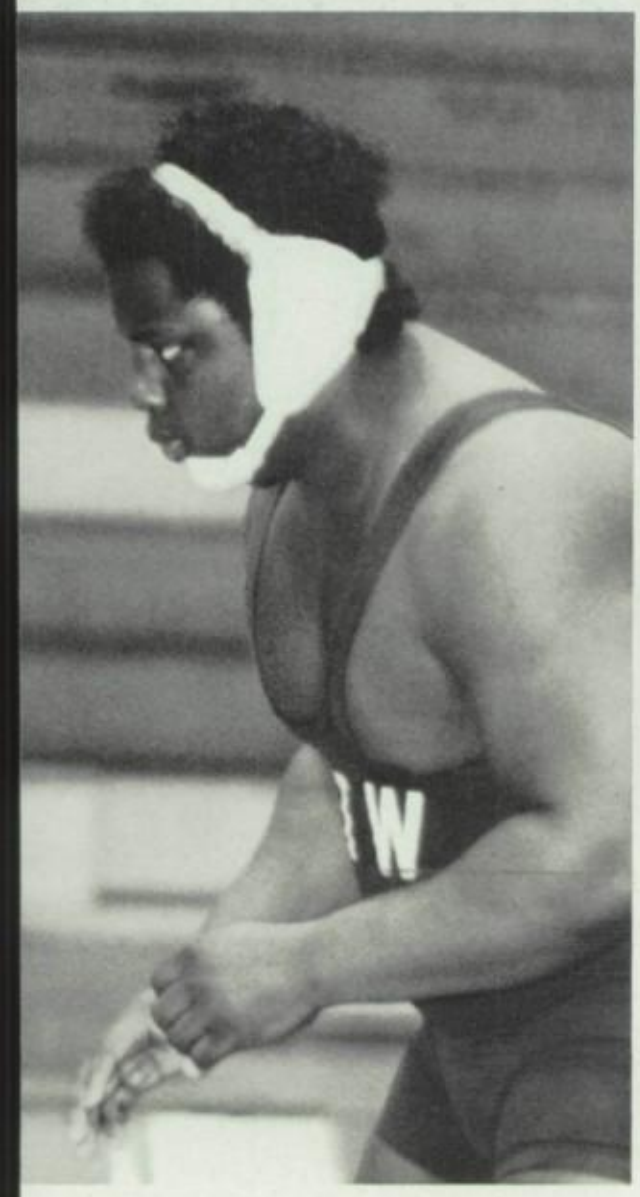


Nard Russell asks for assistance from the bench.



Coach Thompson coaches the wrestlers from the sideline.

The team takes a break during half-time.



Nard Russell pins his opponent.

Miguel Dixon (a star veteran) gives a few pointers during practice.

This guy is ready to "throw down."

"Okay, you can take the picture now," stated by Monica Brickhouse and her wonderful friends.

The junior varsity cheerleaders sit down and rest before a big game.

Garline Everett eats before she has to go out there and cheer our team on to a victory.

Different People Excel in a New Way

Joie Evans and Sandra Williams show their stuff as they take a break from their difficult courses.

TOP: Sandra Williams and Joie Evans. MIDDLE: Rosa Watson and Amy Ashe. BOTTOM: Garline Everett, Veronica Hunter, Gail Uzzle, Monica Brickhouse, Zandra Haskins, Corey Hoggard, and Darlene Smith.

Claudia Lee and Wanda Wortham show their homecoming spirit they take part in the pep rally.

SEATED: Lakita Clark and Valdenia Otey. STANDING: Claudia Lee, Parish Parker, Kim Toms, Wanda Wortham, Rudelle Brickhouse, Robin Battle, and Cynthia Little.

"Shout it out," yell the cheerleaders. And that, they really do.

The 1984-85 varsity cheerleaders welcome the visiting team.

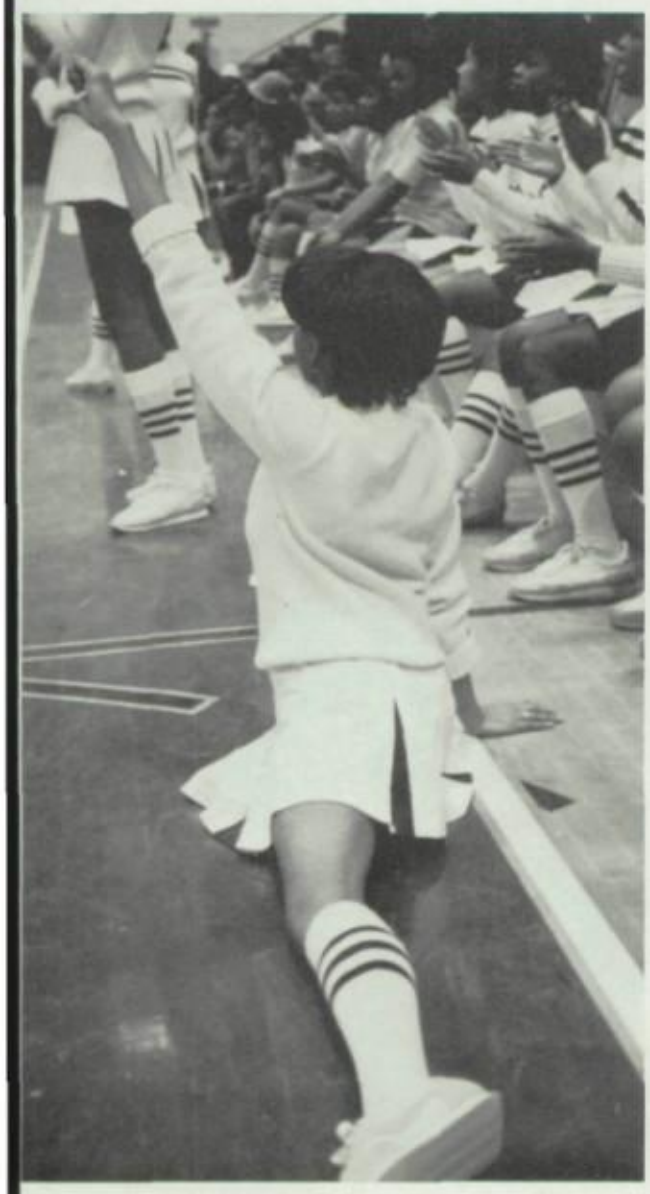
Kim Toms lets the fans know that she's a proud Booker.

Jumping for Higher Scores

Kim Toms puts her heart into her work as Claudia Lee looks on.

Wanda Wortham, Becky Bryant and Kim Clark look upset; I wonder what's wrong.

Lisa Studivant tells a Booker to "sink it."

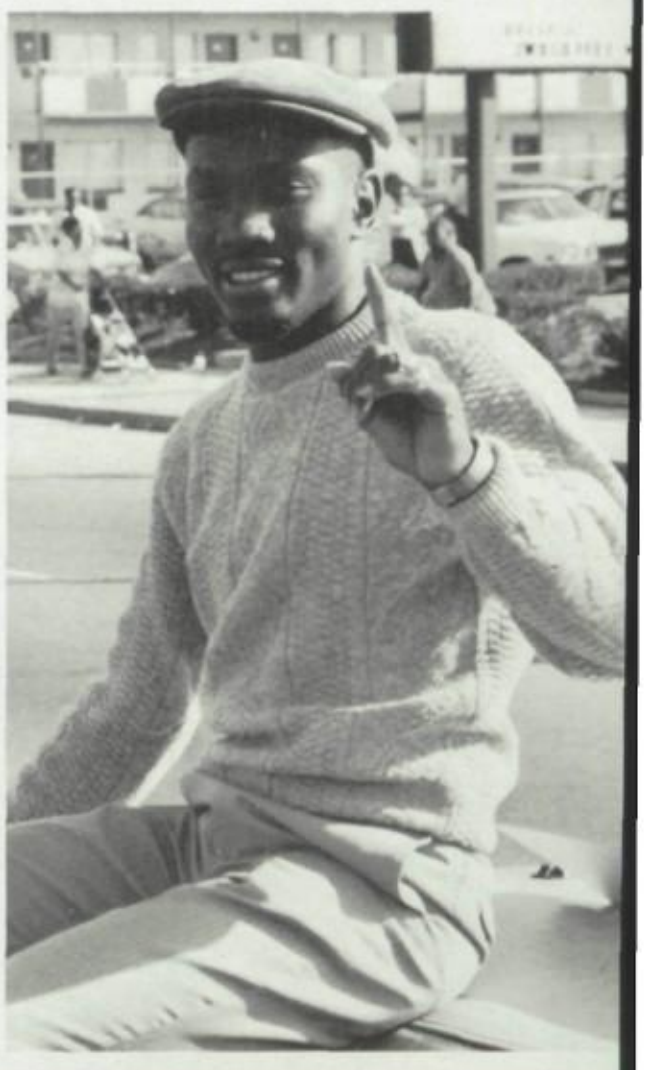


Tina Smith is really into the game.

Kim Clark, Parish Parker, Becky Bryant and Wanda Wortham tell the fans to "watch out."

Pete "Sweet Pea" Whitaker raises his arms as he accepts the title of "winner" of his first professional fight since winning an Olympic Gold Medal.

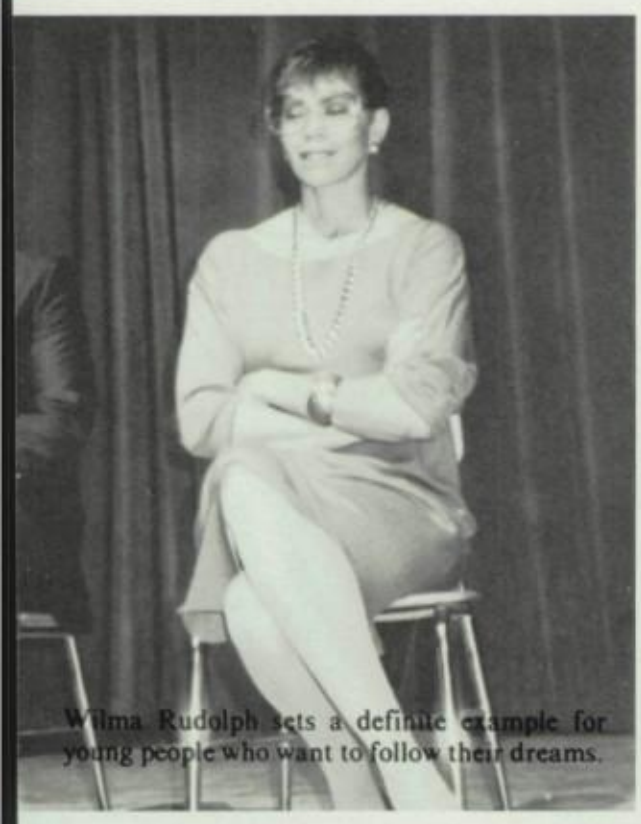
Wilma Rudolph smiles brightly as she prepares to share with the student body her experiences with the "outside world" and how they can believe, achieve, and succeed.



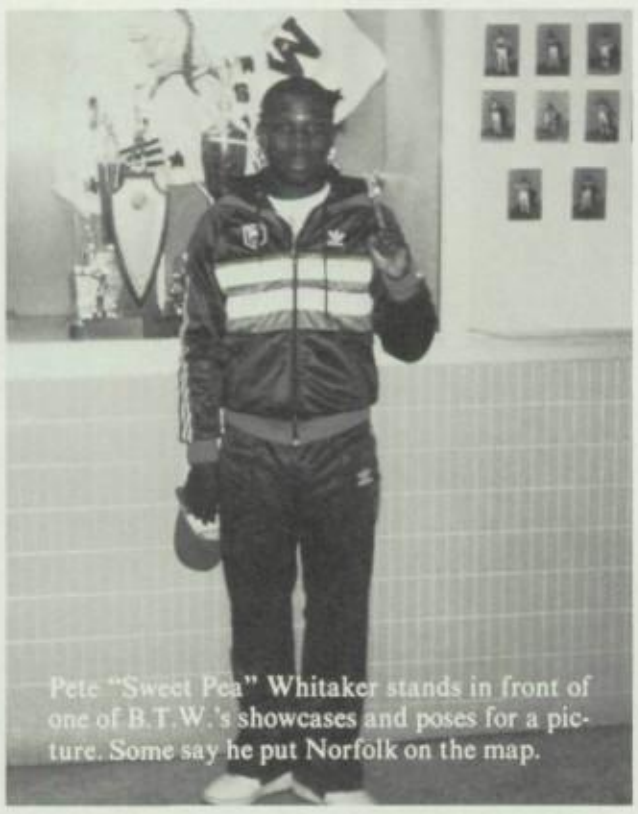
Pete "Sweet Pea" Whitaker rides in a city sponsored parade in honor of his winning the Gold medal in the 1984 Olympic games.

Goals Obtained With Gold

"Wilma Rudolph!!!" — a delightful welcome!



Wilma Rudolph sets a definite example for young people who want to follow their dreams.



Pete "Sweet Pea" Whitaker stands in front of one of B.T.W.'s showcases and poses for a picture. Some say he put Norfolk on the map.

"I'm going for the gold!"

Sweet Pea boxes his way to victory.

The Best Is Yet to Come

ectpea shows how happy he is abo his medal.

Wilma Rudolph speaks to the students of her happy but sometimes sad past.

A confrontation arises between the officials at one o Sweetpea's fights.

Sweetpea displays a minimum of one of his boxing poses.

Also known as Pernell Whitaker, Sweetpea takes time out to be quite serious.

Gene Carter presents Sweetpea with a few words and an award, Norfolk's Athlete of the Year.

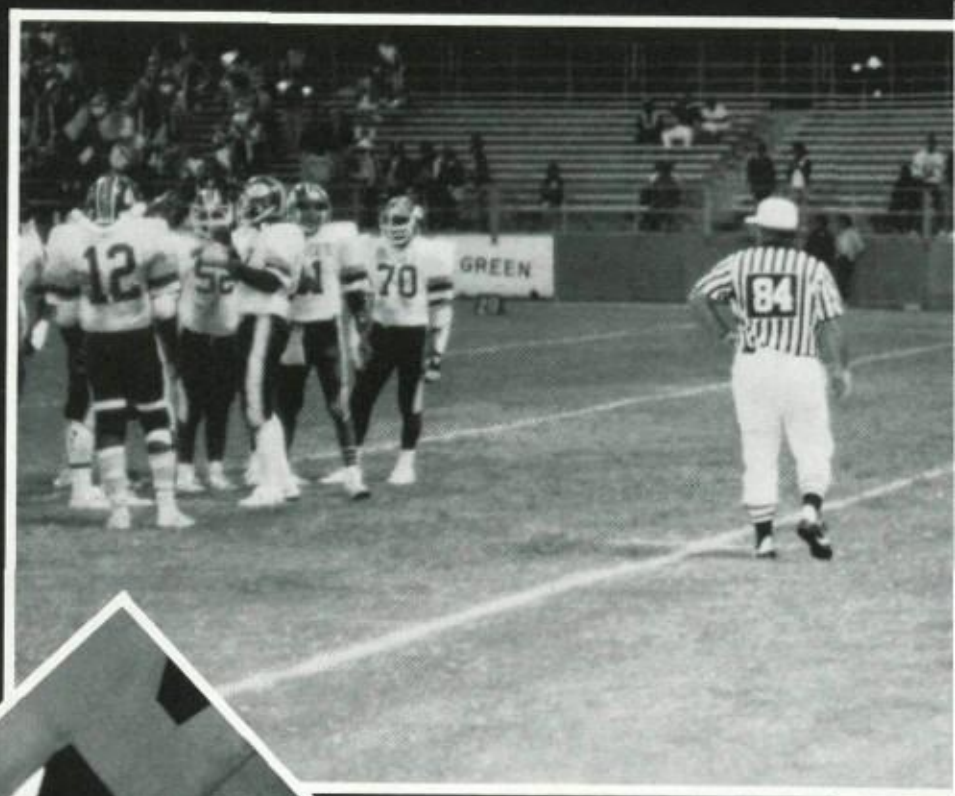
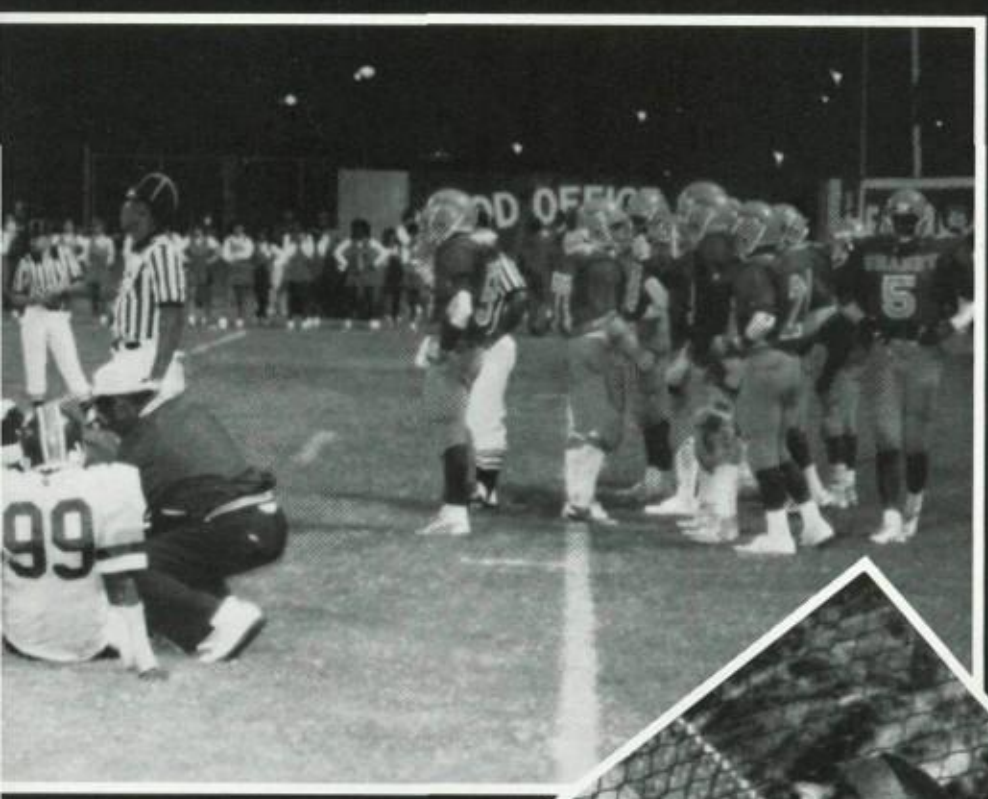
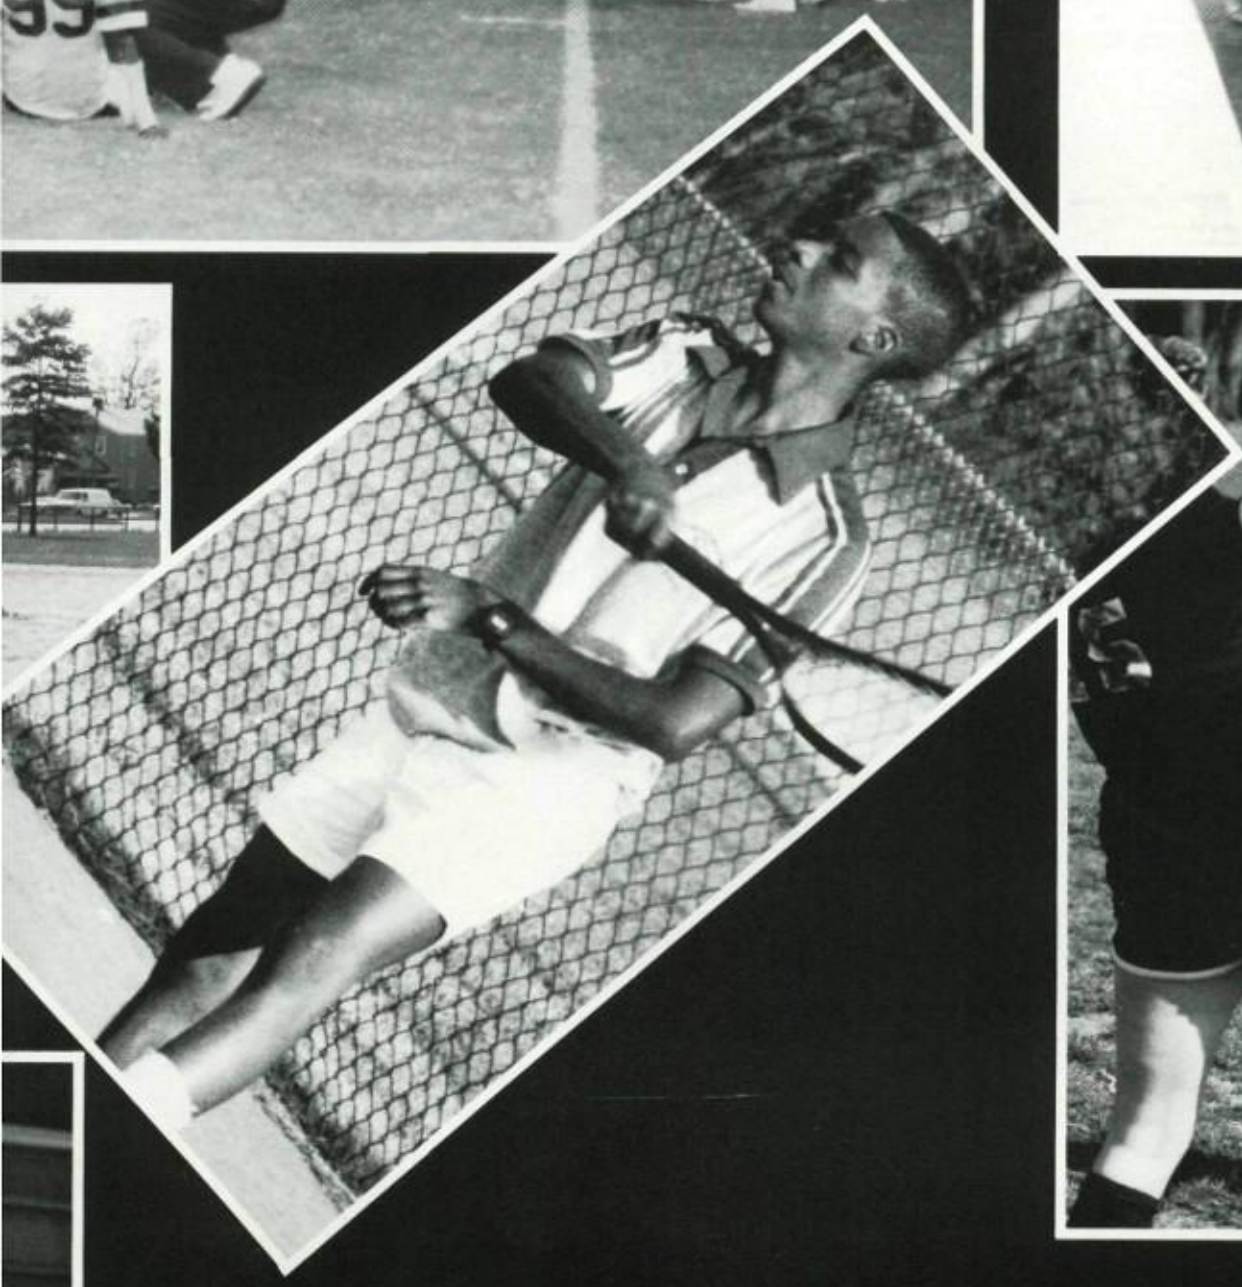
Sports Roundup for "85"







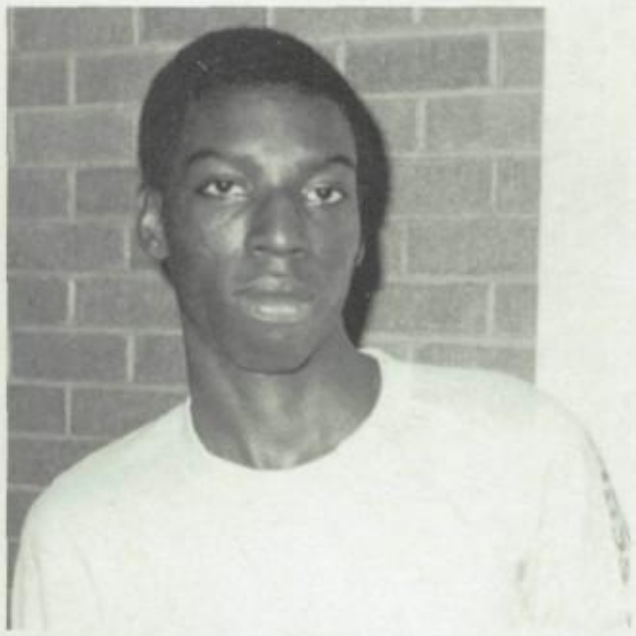
New Happenings at the Top

You survived the killer-exams and the awesome Saturday night parties. Now it's time for the big pay off ... GRADUATION, which is one of the greatest "switches" in life that you will ever encounter.

Mrs. Patricia White, sponsor; Kimberly Clark, president; Belinda Beale, vice-president; Carolyn Mitchell, secretary; Kim Norris, treasurer.

A senior member looks at all the action and wonders how he can get involved.

Valarie Brickhouse wonders about what she has to do next.



Belinda Beale is peering on at space.

Omar Coleman is caught up against the wall.

William Joyner is trying to get the school spirit!

Steadily at work is Kimberly Clark.

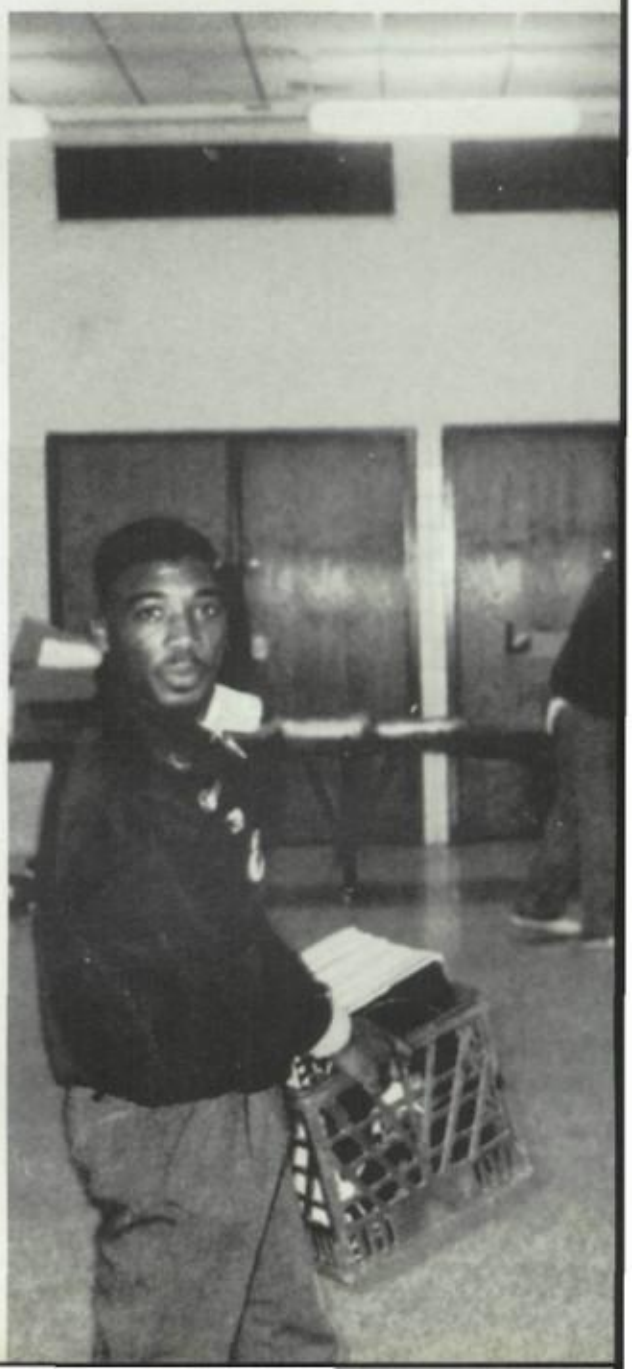
Karen Holly is waiting for that food.

Mrs. White displays a boastful smile for the great success.

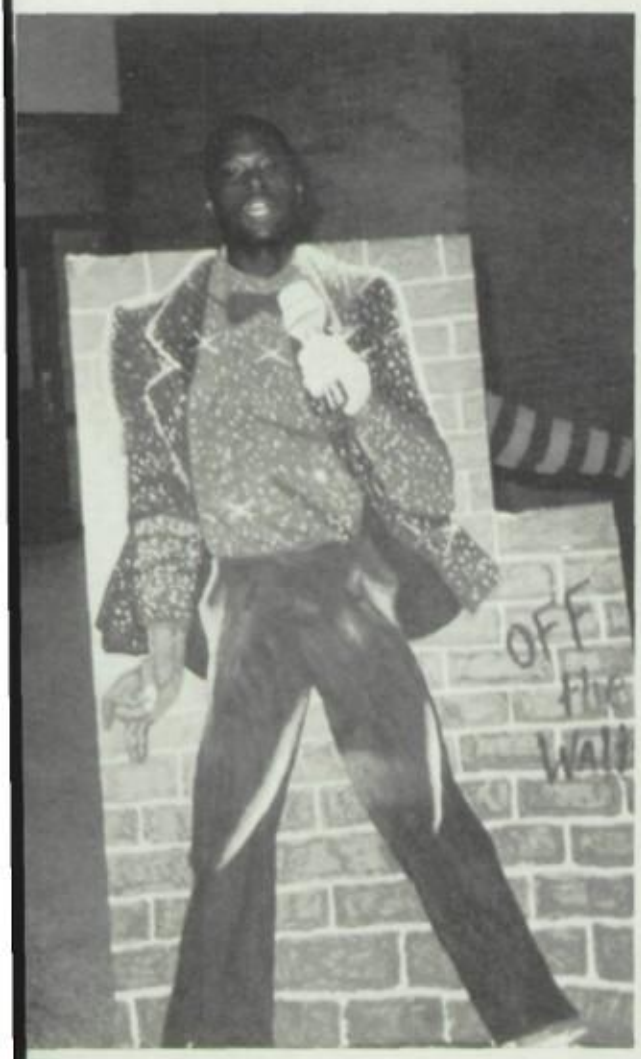
Mrs. Reed and Kelly Tody strike a "serious pose."

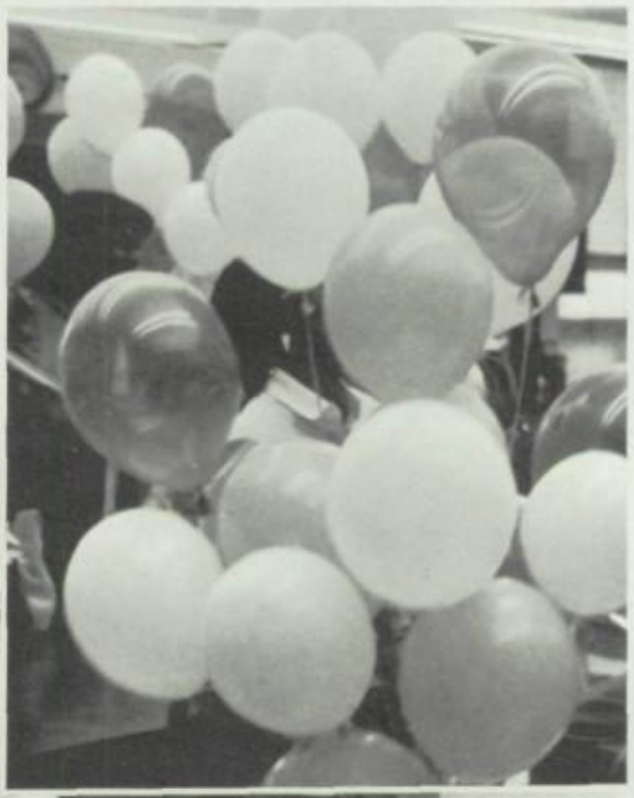
It was the first carnival that the graduating class gave. The purpose was to raise money for the senior class and prom. It turned out a huge success. The seniors raised all the money they needed; simultaneously, everyone participating and attending had a ball. It was the beginning of another great event.

B.T.W. alumnus, Reggie Barringer, carries some of the great sounds.



A First for the Last





Another "M.J." fan impersonates his idol.

Mrs. White "struts her stuff" with some other seniors.

Balloons, Balloons, Balloons. Let's get them all together.

Stop eating, and let's get to work . . . please!

SEATED, LEFT TO RIGHT: Cheytoria Hodges, Mrs. [illegible] Valarie Brickhouse, and [illegible]. STANDING, LEFT TO RIGHT: [illegible] Venable, [illegible] Walston.

The 1985 Washingtonian, Volume 31, was printed by Taylor Publishing Company, P.O. Box 597, Dallas, Texas 75221. The 8½ by 11 inch book contained 208 pages with 16 pages of full color. Type face sizes and type were as follows: division page headlines, 36 point Times Roman; main headlines, 24 point Times Roman Standard; indices, 8 point Times Roman Standard; body copy, 10 point Times Roman Standard; caption copy, 8 point Times Roman Standard. Division pages were designed by Cheytoria Hodges and Carrie Halstead.

The cover of the 1985 Washingtonian was Hot Stamped with the emblem, The Washingtonian in gold. The cover was designed by Jovene Chacon.

All senior portraits were furnished by Max Ward-Delmar Studios, Chesapeake, Virginia. Underclass pictures were furnished by Max Ward-Delmar Studios. All other photography was furnished by student photographers, Thomas Burns and Stuart Birkel; staff advisor, Mrs. Sonja Watts-Barnes; and former students Barry Riddick and Derrick White.

The 1985 Washingtonian Staff wishes to thank Mr. Clyde Wiggins, business manager and financial advisor; Ms. Vicki Jacobs, Taylor representative; and Mr. Bill Eckard and other staff of Max Ward-Delmar Studios for their timely services and excellent photography.

Special thanks are extended also to Mr. Walter Williamson, volunteer photographer for Norview High School, for anonymously submitting pictures to our staff.

Time Changes, But Do We?

The clock displayed 4:00 p.m. as the yearbook staff endowed in yet another afternoon/evening session of yearbook construction. The students worked and tarried over what seemed to be an endless night. The clock ticked on past 9:00, yet the endurance flowed, slowly but surely.

Many of these occurrences existed; however, the added endurance and the late nights of work were to produce an even better book than standards demanded. Their thirteen member staff, including the sponsor Mrs. Sonja Barnes, is comprised of talented editors and photographers who are gratified in producing the Washingtonian.

Delzorra Carey works on a layout that requires extreme concentration.

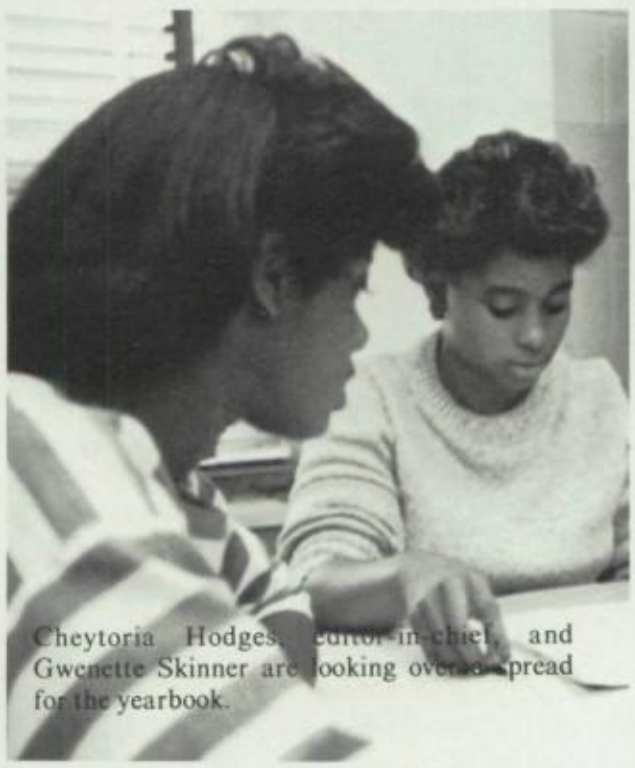
Katrina Venable and Carrie Halstead are taking their work very seriously.

Kerry Lynch is looking for the right pictures. Teresa Gaines likes to do her work.

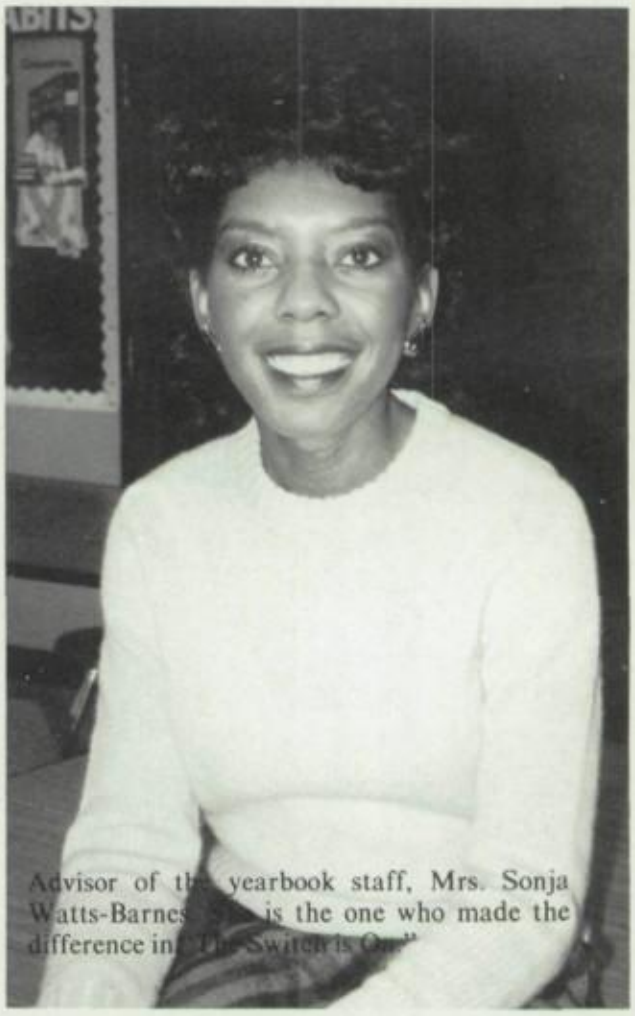
Charlene Johnson knows that it takes a steady hand to do a steady job.

Jovene Chacon is showing how that piece of paper is a big help in displaying his artistical talents.

Stuart Birkel looks on while his fellow classmate draws a clear picture.



Cheytoria Hodges, editor-in-chief, and Gwenette Skinner are looking over a spread for the yearbook.



Advisor of the yearbook staff, Mrs. Sonja Watts-Barnes, is the one who made the difference in "The Switch is On".

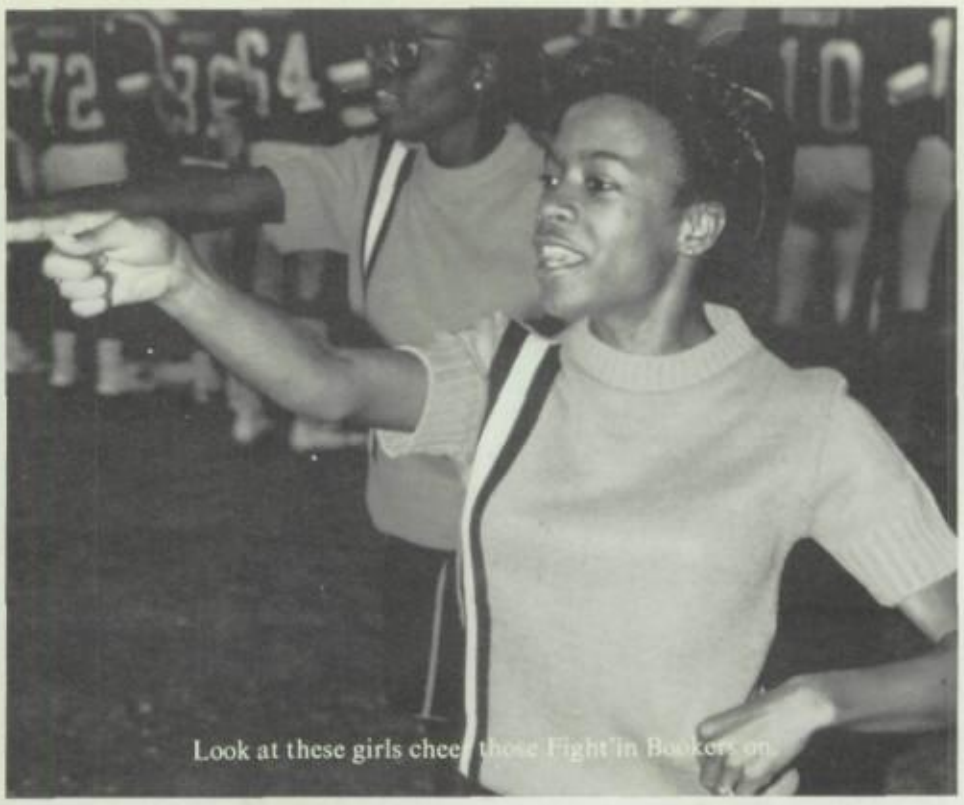
CLICK!!!

There go those Fightin' Bookers [illegible] at that victorious homecoming game.

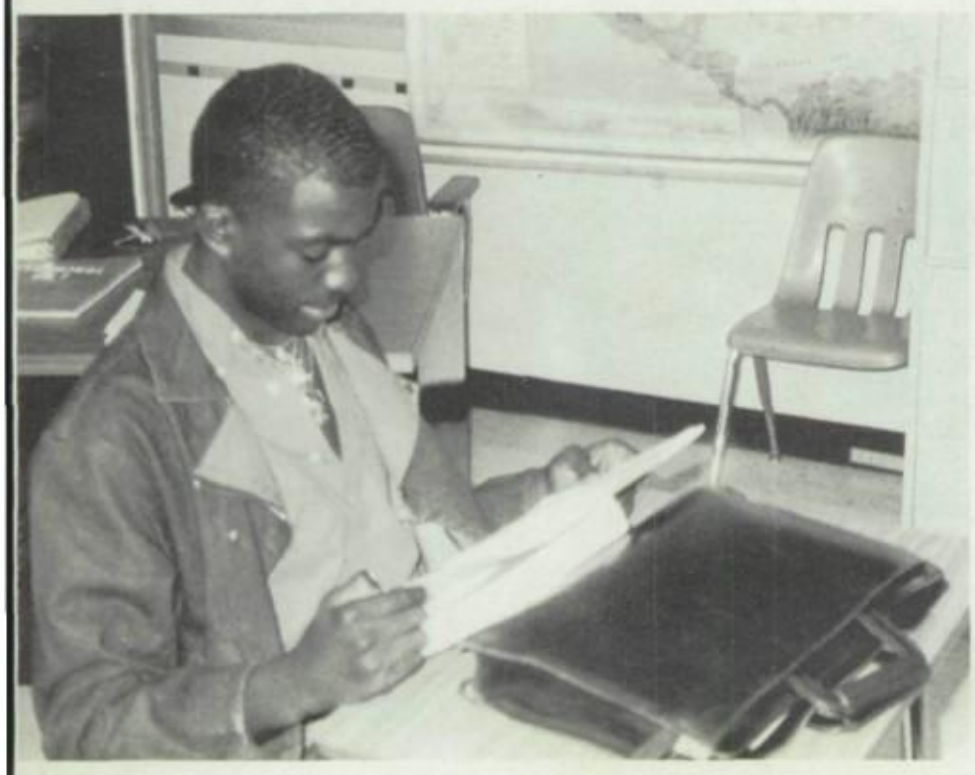
A perfect example of a student — he probably studied, and it shows.

Whoever said that "two is company and three's a crowd?" These three students don't seem to think so.

Mrs. Pat Karr and Mrs. Ora Isom are not only in good physical condition; they are also in top singing condition.



Look at these girls cheering those Fightin' Bookers on.



These look like proud marching Bookers, showing off their new uniforms just as well as their talents.

Kenny Robinson is into his lesson; can't you tell? He's trying to find the answers.

It seems that this teacher is well educated as she shows her students that education is not an inch easy, but if you gain good study habits, it will put you a yard ahead of the rest.

Hold the note

that reminds you . . .

This year at Booker T. Washington High School the students, faculty and staff were confronted with the loss of Mrs. Wilma Lanham-Harvey, the school's choral directress. This incident touched the hearts and minds of everyone here at Booker T. and of many outsiders as well.

Mrs. Harvey dedicated much of her time assisting others with musical productions and individual activities. Her moral inspiration will enable many students to excel in life.

Mrs. Harvey's death was indeed a tragic shock to those of us who were among her students; but even though she is no longer with us, we must . . . hold the note that reminds us.

Best Wishes
Louis Crowder
